I have a life I can't escape,
A life that's mine to mold and shape,
I can in my own way design
What is to be this life of mine.

INTRODUCTION

The 1955-1956 school year at Winslow High School is now completed. It has been an unforgettable year, crammed full of fun and laughter and holds many personal memories for each of us. The 1956 Meteor has recorded the events of this year day by day. So forget the present for awhile, drift back—and relive this year at Winslow High.

DEDICATION

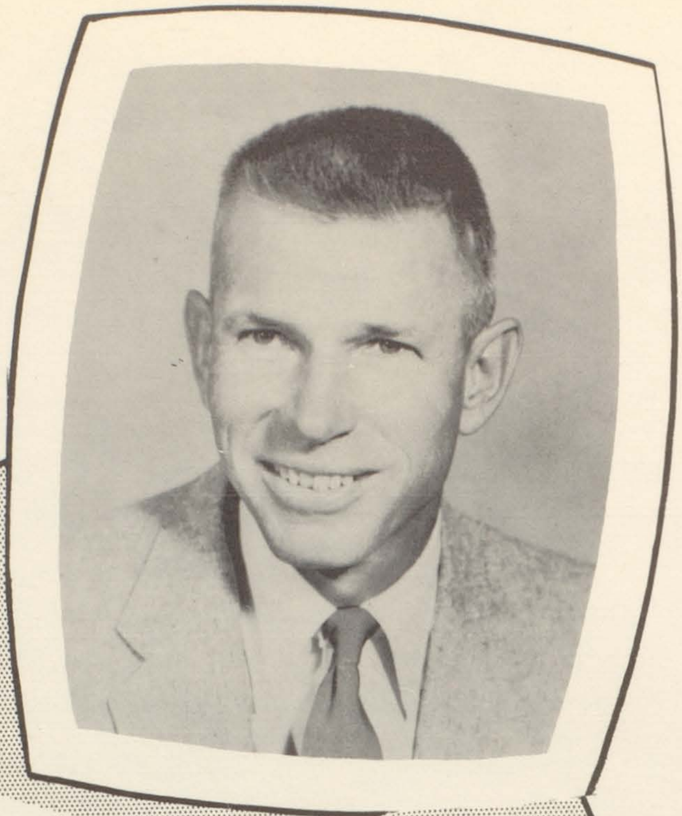

For one to be kind, cheerful, understanding, and thoughtful is indeed for one to be ideal. Yet, there is one such person in Winslow High School who merits our deepest respect and devotion.

She has always been willing to give her time to us, even though it meant additional after-school hours. Our problems have never been too small that she did not offer her far-sighted advice, and has always been eager to share in our laughter and successes.

To express our sincere gratitude, we fondly dedicate our 1956 METEOR to

MRS. GERTRUDE CRAWFORD

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

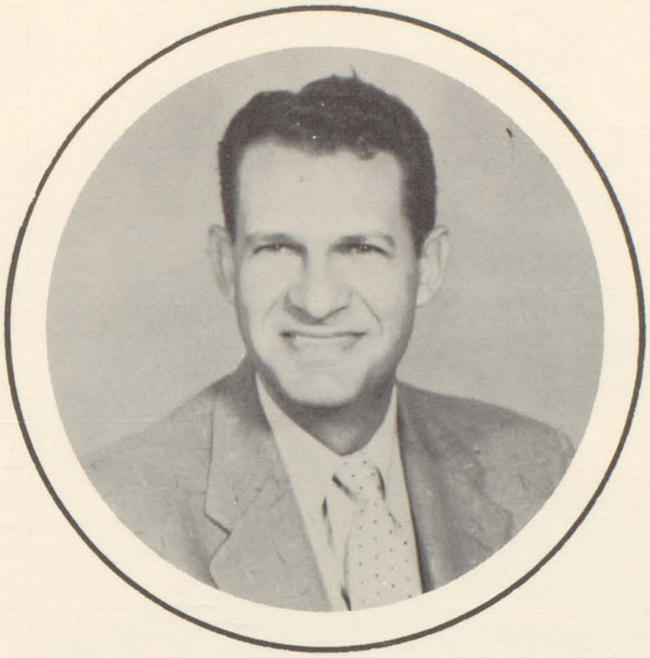

As we approach Commencement time, I would like to offer my congratulations to the members of the class of 1956 for the completion of four years of work in the Winslow High School. I hope and trust these years have been happy and prosperous years and that the knowledge you have gained and the habits and attitudes you have formed will aid you in making your life in later years a fuller, richer, more useful one in the communities in which you live. Your education is not completed; it has only begun. In school you have merely established a foundation on which to build and have acquired some useful tools of learning that will enable you to continue your education throughout life.. Success in life is not measured so much in monetary acquisition as it is in whether or not you have contributed to a better community —a better society in which to live. Have you contributed to the happiness of your fellowmen and made a better society for future generations? This is the true measure of success. Good luck and best wishes for happiness and success in the years ahead to the members of the class of 1956.

Sincerely,

R E Booth

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

This is a rare opportunity to extend congratulations from the teachers, the school office staff, and from me to all students, and especially the members of the class of 1956, for the successful completion of another year of high school.

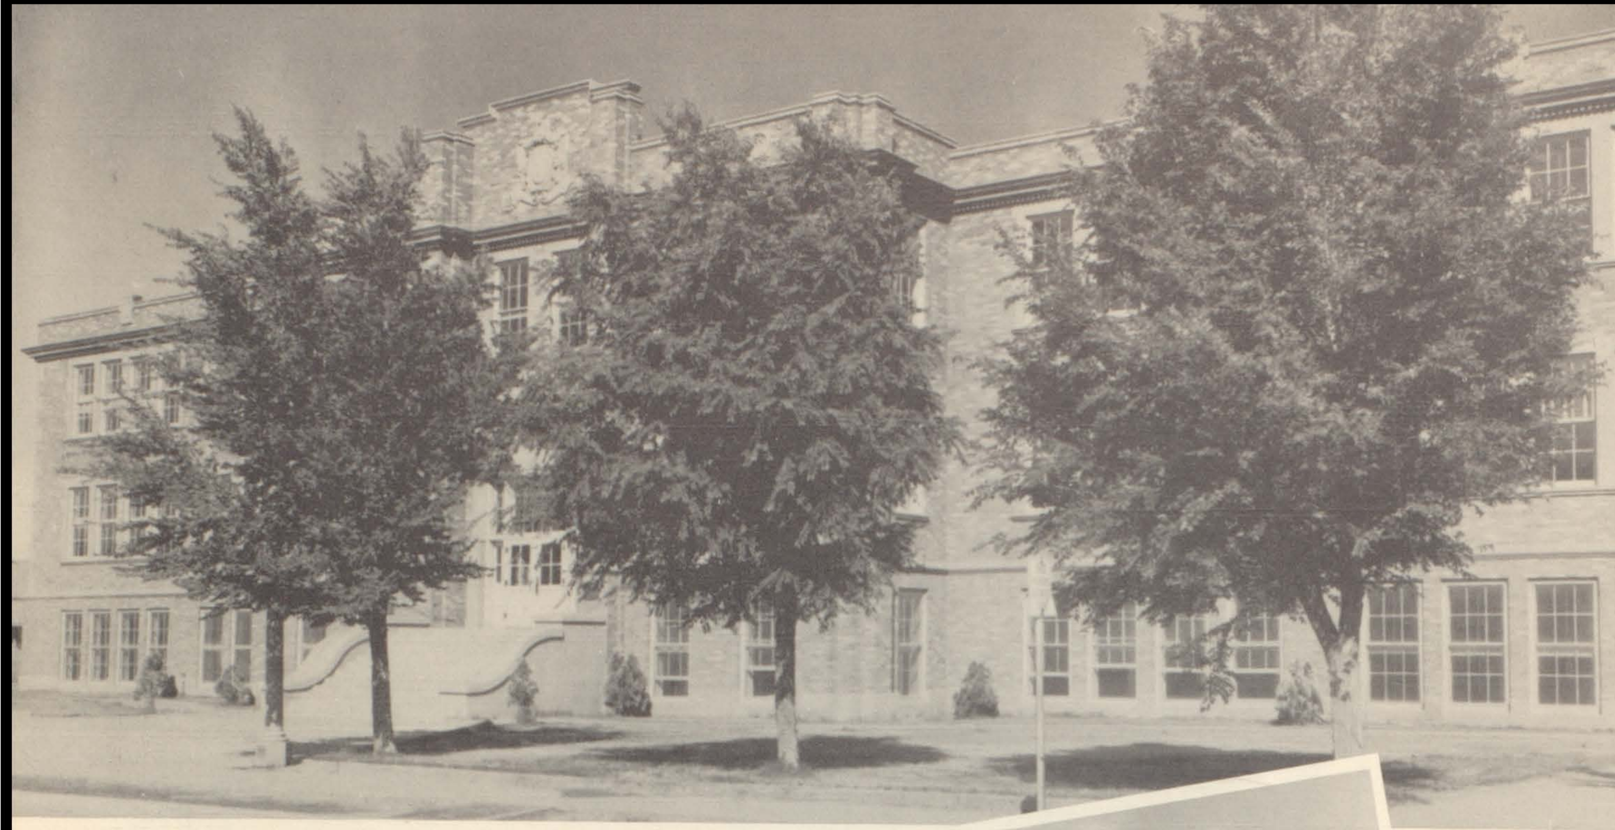

Those of us who know students well and who can recognize their potential are glad to have had some part in the growth and progress of you young men and women not only academically, but in social maturity and leadership. We are also disappointed when any student does not make the most of his opportunities.

What we can do as friends and teachers to help you meet any of your problems of today increases our opportunities to be a part of your success. Whatever you do in your further school activities and whatever you achieve after your schooling is completed will find us always interested and still eager to help in any way that we can.

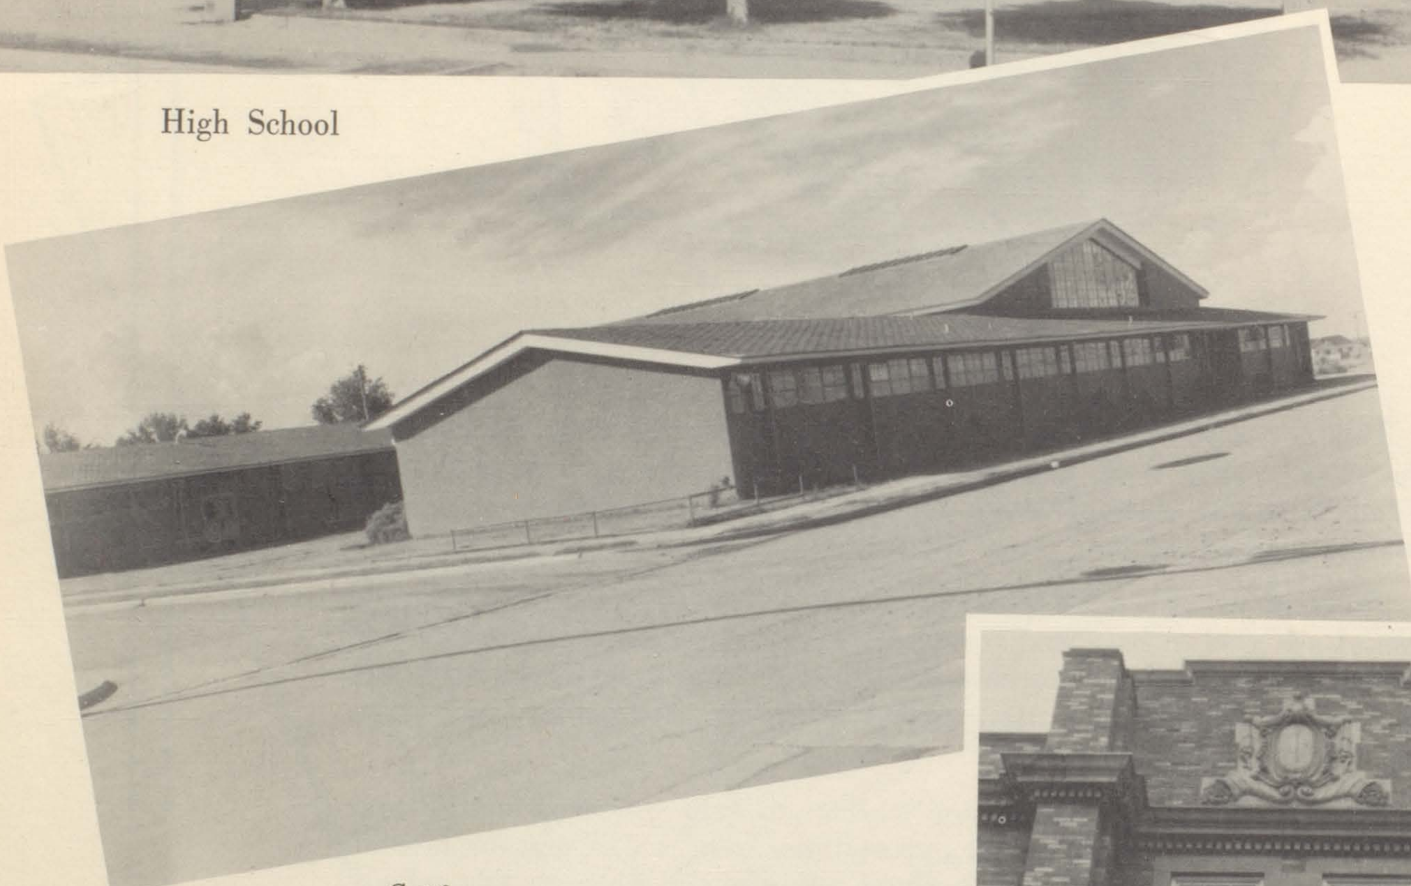

Sincerely,

Peyton Reavis

YOURS EDITORIALLY

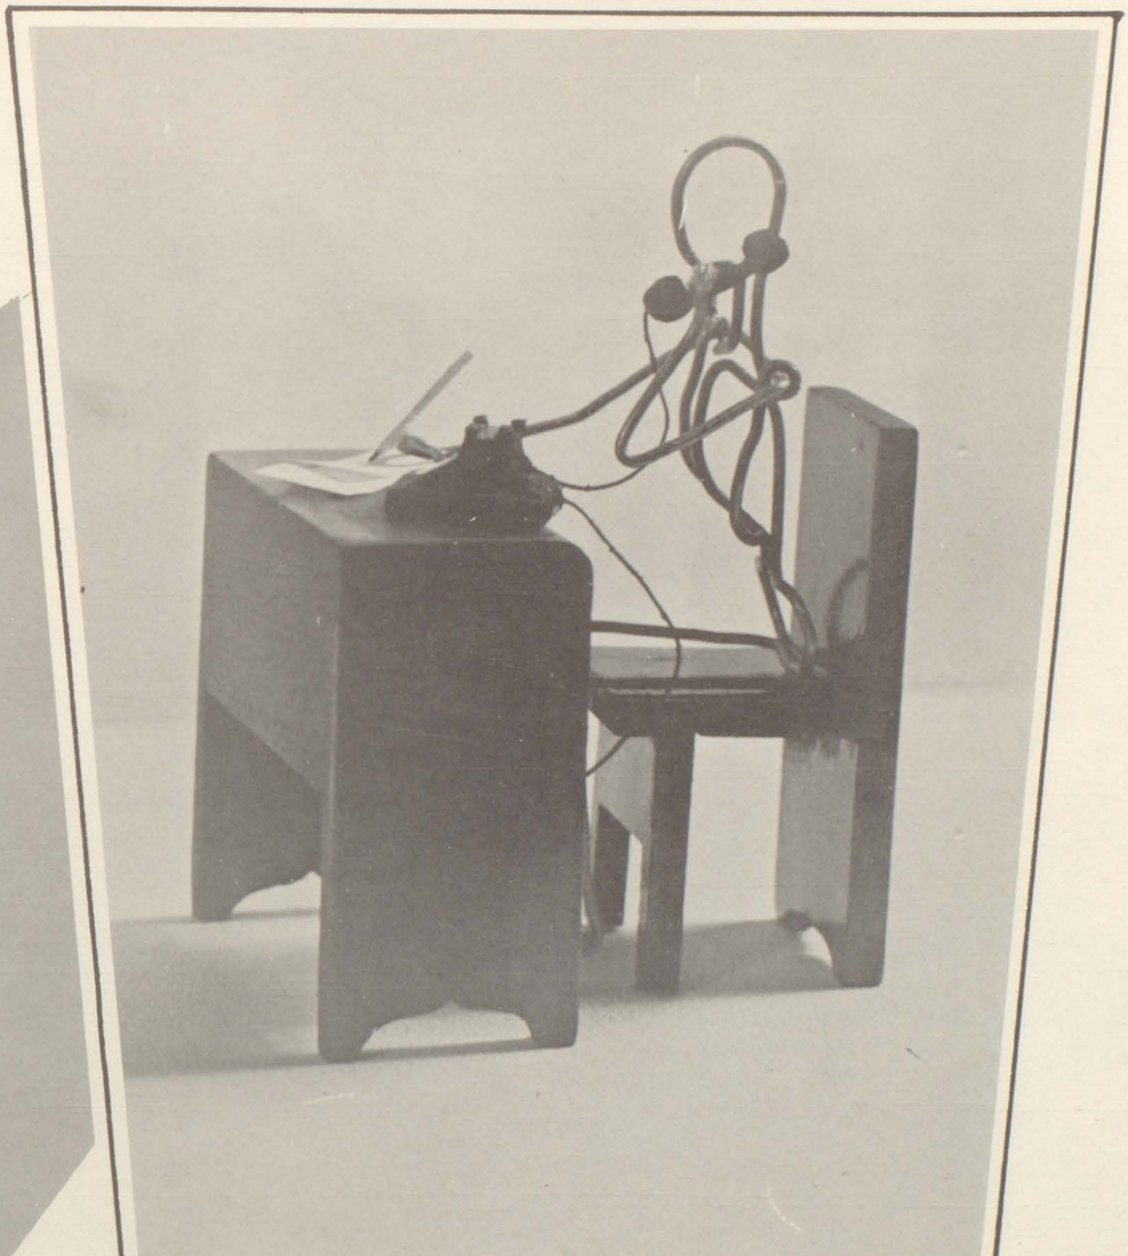

For the theme of the 1956 METEOR we have chosen WIRE because it is symbolic of those qualities which are essential to our success—flexibility, strength, and the ability to be molded.

WIRE can be bent many times without breaking and can be molded into any form or shape. Throughout these changes it still retains its strength. Therefore, you too must be like the WIRE. Bend with the uncertainties of life and retain your strength. Adjust to all circumstances and mold yourselves into the persons you wish to be. Possess all these qualities and you too, will take your place in life as would a figure made of WIRE.

DIRECTION AND DISCIPLINE

Superintendent R. E. Booth and Principal Peyton Reavis look over construction plans for the new library.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Winslow School Board—Left to right: Dr. D. H. Simmons, Mr. Clyde Rhoton, Mrs. Bonnie Brennan inspect library under construction. As proven, the qualities of WIRE are vital.

-THEIR DAILY ROUTINE IS DICTATIONS, ABSENCE EXCUSES, . . .

MRS. LULU MURRAY

Mrs. Murray, secretary to Mr. Booth, quietly works behind the scenes. Though seldom noticed by students, her work plays an important part in the function of our school.

MRS. HELEN PERKINS

Mrs. Perkins, secretary to Mr. Reavis, has her name called hundreds of times hourly by students requesting admittance slips, and excuses. Her untiring patience is well rewarded by the appreciation of all.

MRS. LUCILLE MEIKLE

Mrs. Meikle is attendance clerk and bookkeeper. Many a financial difficulty in a club or class treasury has been solved by her assistance. Mrs. Meikle's work not only includes W.H.S. accounts and ledgers, but also the willingness to be of all possible service to everyone.

THESE ACT AS THE PLIERS OF HISTORY AND ART

MRS. GERTRUDE CRAWFORD
American History
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona
Southeastern Teachers College
Durant, Oklahoma

American History comes alive as a real and important part of every student's life in her classes. She seeks to give an impartial and comprehensive view of our nation's history.

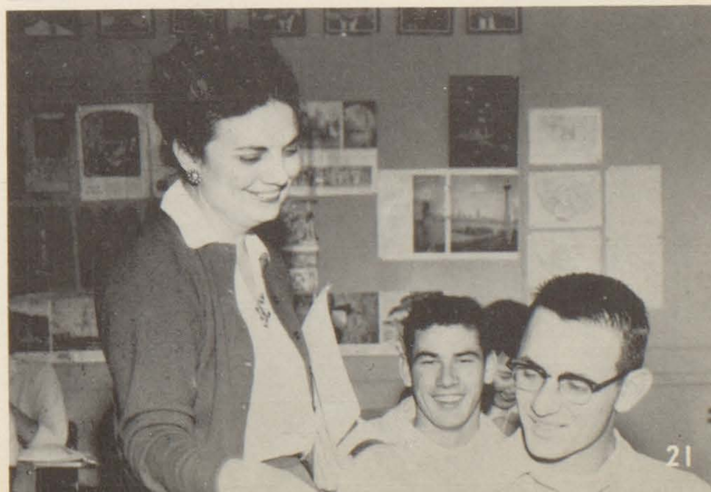

MR. EVERETT PATTERSON
Art, Mechanical Drawing
Western State College
Gunnison, Colorado
University of Denver

Mr. Patterson stands before a mural painted by students of other years. He inspires that same type of determination now, through his classes.

MR. W. M. WRIGHT
Social Science
A.S.C., Tempe, Arizona
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

In his classes, freshmen find a needed guide for vocational choices. Junior Review, library manual, are studied in his classes. He also lends a helping hand in many of the school activities.

MISS VERLA OARE
World History, Government
University of Arizona
Stanford University

Seniors experience their first glimpse of adult viewpoints in her classes. They become more conscious of current events.

WE MUST BE FLEXIBLE LIKE WIRE

MISS SALLY McMURRAY
Speech, English
Panhandle A&M
University of Denver

Miss McMurray, although a newcomer to the faculty, has displayed exceptional ability in organizing dramatics. Besides teaching sophomore English, she has given a vital contribution to high school life by her promotion of school.

MISS ESTELEE HINSON
English III, IV; Journalism
Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee
University of Arkansas

As sponsor of the school paper, the Bulldog Barks, Miss Hinson is duly given credit for the high standard and rating. She not only prepares students for the field of journalism, but cultivates an understanding and appreciation in her English classes.

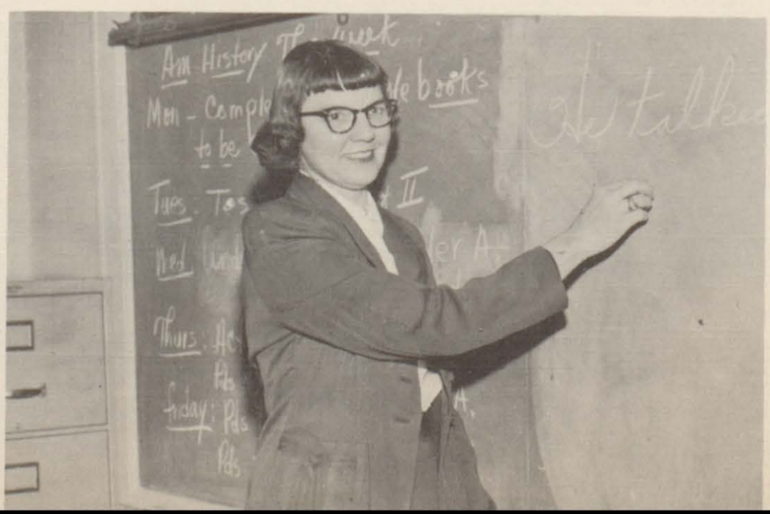

MRS. NONA MAE GETTEL
English I
Texas Tech

A newcomer to W.H.S. has taken her place quickly and easily in the school faculty. She undertakes her job of teaching freshman English with vigor and ability. Her efforts are evidently rewarded.

MRS. MARIE COPAS
English IV
Western Kentucky State College

Another new face seen in the halls this fall was Mrs. Copas, teacher of junior English. She made herself acquainted not only with the faculty and students but with Arizona for the first time.

IN ORDER TO LEARN.

MRS. MARY GODSELL
Latin
Fargo College
Fargo, North Dakota
University of Arizona

In her capacity as librarian she has installed a unique magazine system. Her work will soon be lightened pending the construction of the new library.

MRS. LEONA FISHER
Spanish, English
University of Oklahoma
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

Spanish in customs, language and habit comes alive to those students who attend her classes. She spices her sessions with her ready sense of humor. Never a dull moment is known under her guidance.

MRS. ANN MEIKLE
Commerce
A.S.C., Tempe, Arizona
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

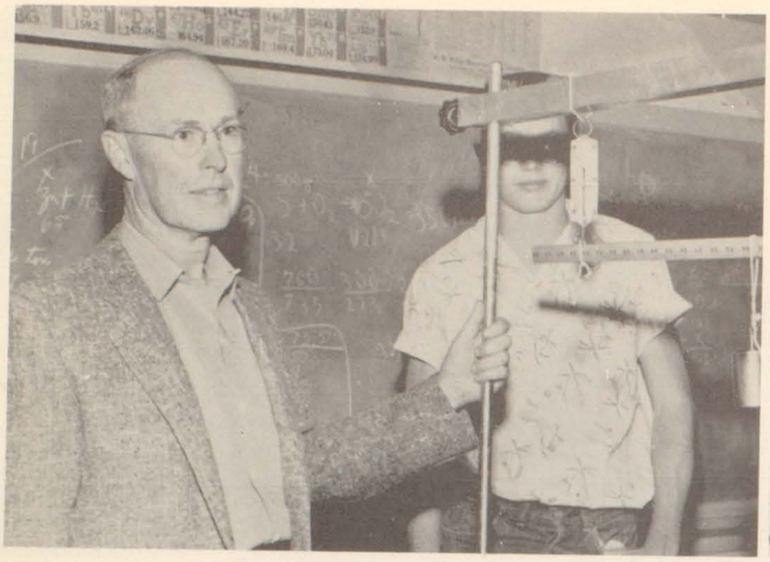

Our business world needs competent commercial majors. Mrs. Meikle prepares her pupils for positions in the business field that follow graduation. Others learn in preparation for college.

MR. LORAL YARBROUGH
Commerce
College of Ozarks
Clarksville, Arkansas

Future business careers begin early under his teaching. His quiet manner aids well in his instruction. Typing and Business Law are some of the courses he offers.

MATH, SCIENCES ALLOYS OF WIRE.

MR. LESTER TAYLOR
Plane Geometry, Physics, Chemistry
University of New Mexico

Not only, will Mr. Taylor's teaching of mathematics and sciences remain in the minds of his students but also his words of wisdom. His famous jokes which caused daily laughter, enabled students to laugh at themselves and in turn made science and mathematics become alive.

MISS BONNA LOU MILLS
Home Economics
Bowling Green College, Ohio
Michigan State College
East Lansing, Michigan

To become an efficient and excellent future homemaker is the purpose of Miss Mill's teachings. Under her guidance girls learn modern ways and methods of preparing foods and making clothing. Her students learn the true meaning of homemaking.

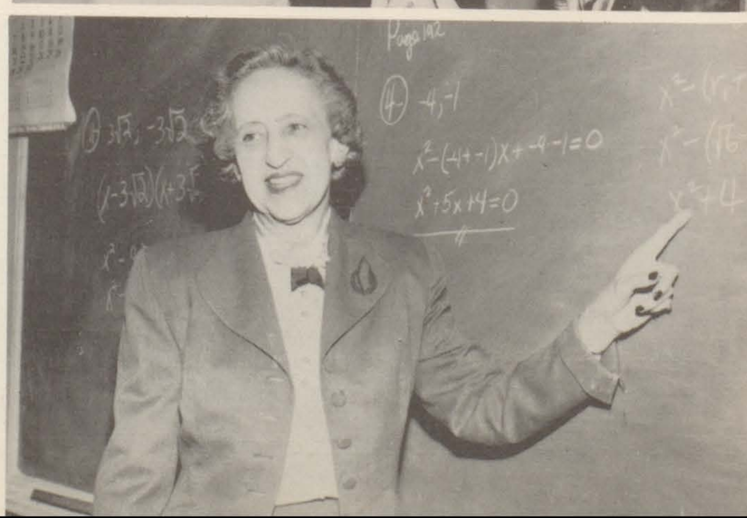

MR. CHARLES RAPSON
Biology
A.S.C., Tempe, Arizona

Mr. Rapson is shown here watering a plant, the symbol of biology. In his classes sophomores first become acquainted with a high school science. From diagraming parts of a flower to disecting frogs he is responsible for young biologists gaining a thorough knowledge of this science.

MISS PEARL ANDERSON
Algebra I, II, Solid Geometry
Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa
University of Colorado
University of Omaha

In college W.H.S. alumni find that the basic foundation in mathematics, laid by Miss Anderson serves them well. Her perseverence and patience are responsible for this tribute.

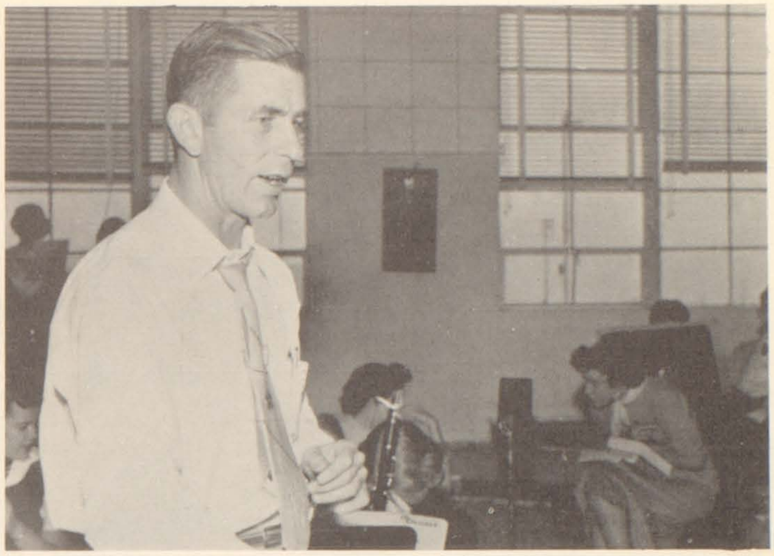

THEY TEMPER THE WIRE

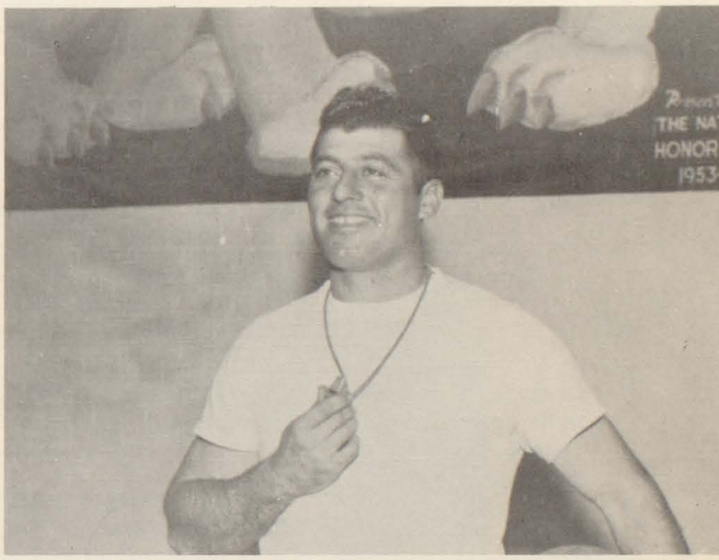

MISS HELEN FRANCIS
Girls' Physical Education
Health
Heidelberg College, Ohio

Ready, willing, and able are some synonyms for Miss Francis. For example, archery was first begun by her. Her cheerful sponsorship of WHS Pep Squad and GAA are typical of her.

MR. WILLIAM BROWN
Chorus, Band
A.S.C., Tempe, Arizona

Early in the morning to late at night, Mr. Brown instructs budding band members. WHS owes a great deal to Mr. Brown for the fine band and chorus we now have.

MR. EMIL NASSER
Boys' Physical Education
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

Sports and sportsmanship—two very important items are stressed in Coach Nasser's classes. His able leadership has led the Bulldogs to two State football championships.

MRS. ELIA H. BEALER
School Nurse
Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.; Evanston Hospital School of Nursing, Evanston, Ill.; Northwestern University Affiliated

A modern high school like WHS experiences the need for varied services. Mrs. Bealer meets one of those needs. Many students complete better grade averages after she corrects physical defects.

THE MANUAL ARTS

MR. O. W. LETTS
Drivers' Training
Oshkosh Teachers College
Oshkosh, Wisconsin
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

Once again Drivers' Training is offered to WHS students. Mr. Letts has undertaken to provide student learners with good driving habits and a better knowledge of the functions of the car.

MR. ROY E. SCOTT
Woodworking
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

Despite the handicap of entering school at the beginning of second semester, he has displayed quiet determination in aiding his students. One really learns the art and science of woodworking in his classes.

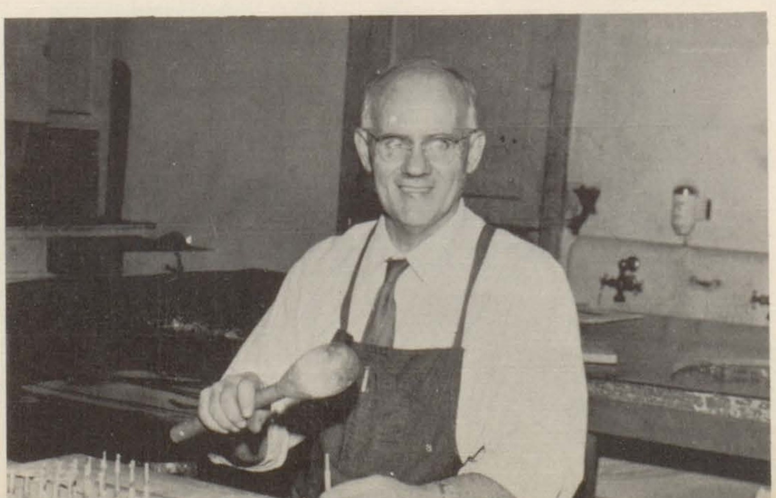

MR. WILLIAM STRACK
Machine Shop
A.S.C., Flagstaff, Arizona

Look in the WHS display case. The machine tools bearing awards are products of his excellent teaching. Boys leave his classes with good understanding of machines.

MR. GLENN OLMSTEAD
General Shop
Oregon State College of Education
University of Southern California

Mr. Olmstead affectionately known as "Coach" leads out actively in school and community life. In his classes he features metal work, leathercraft, welding and a variety of other courses.

THEY CLEAN, REPAIR, AND TRANSPORT

MR. JAMES L. BARNER
Maintenance Superintendent

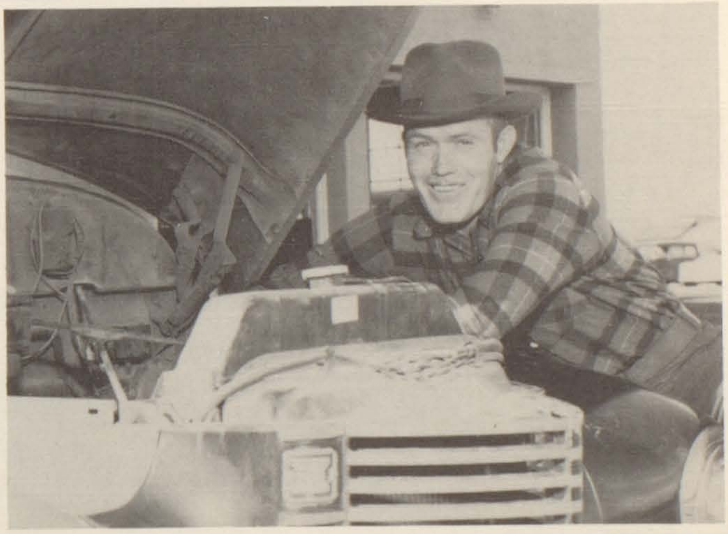

MR. FRANK DODSON
Custodian of High School

MR. CHARLES O. BROWN
Custodian of High School

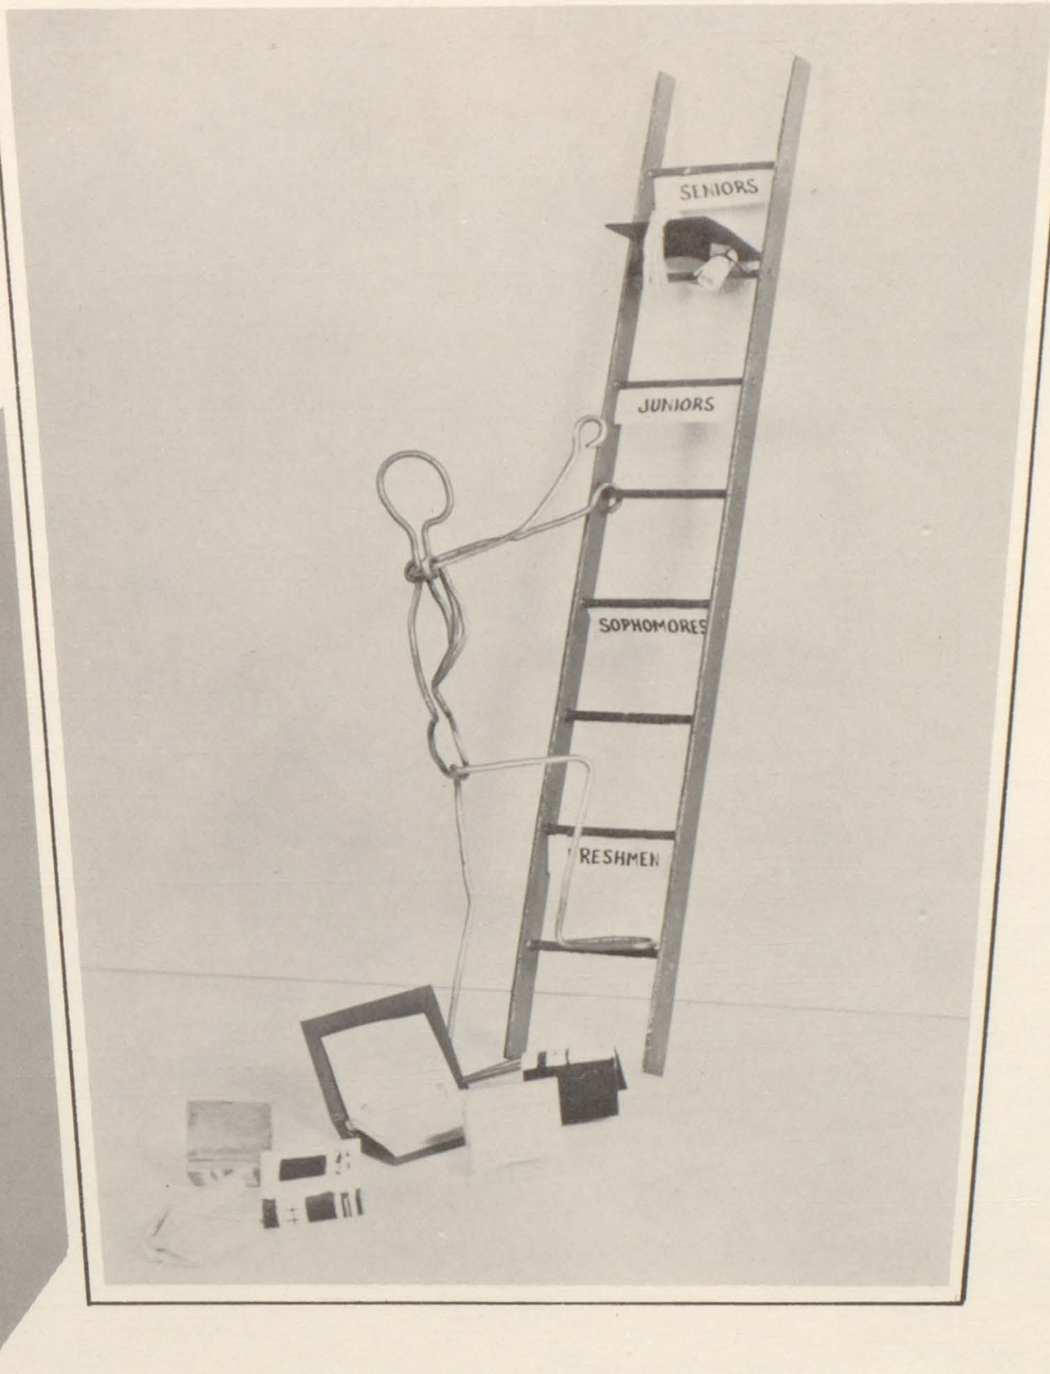

MR. AFTON G. SAWYER
Custodian and Bus Driver

Rivalry, as usual, is keen among the classes of W.H.S. When the time arises for the full cooperation of the student body, classes forget their differences and become one . . . as pieces of WIRE welded together.

DAY BY DAY

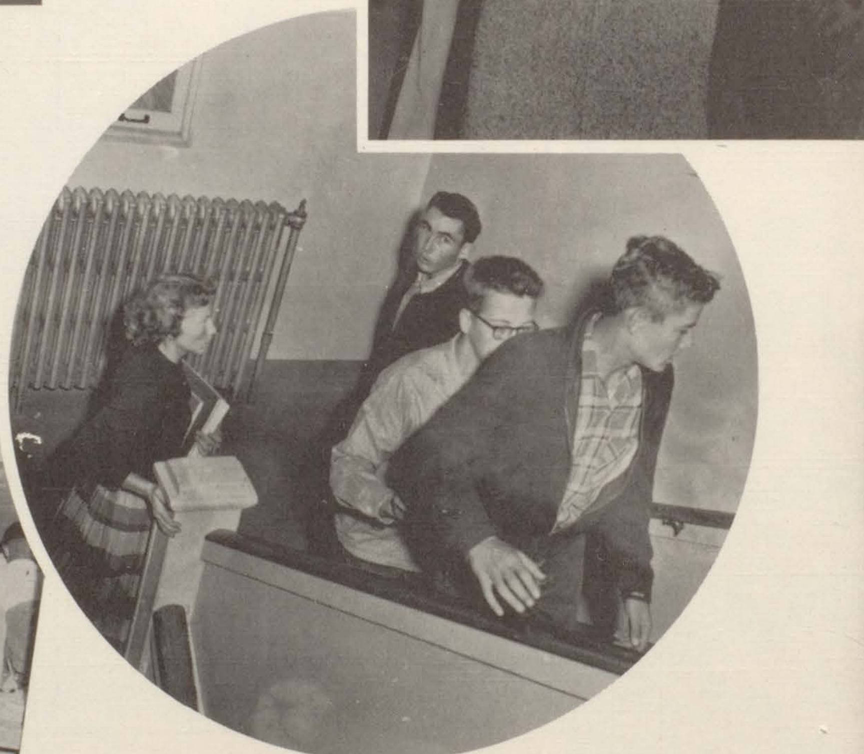

THE LIFE OF A STUDENT, LIKE WIRE

The first thing in the school life of a student is registration. We, with our teachers, plan our schedule for the following year.

After a game, whether in defeat or victory, not only the girl friends, but the whole school boosts the team's spirits.

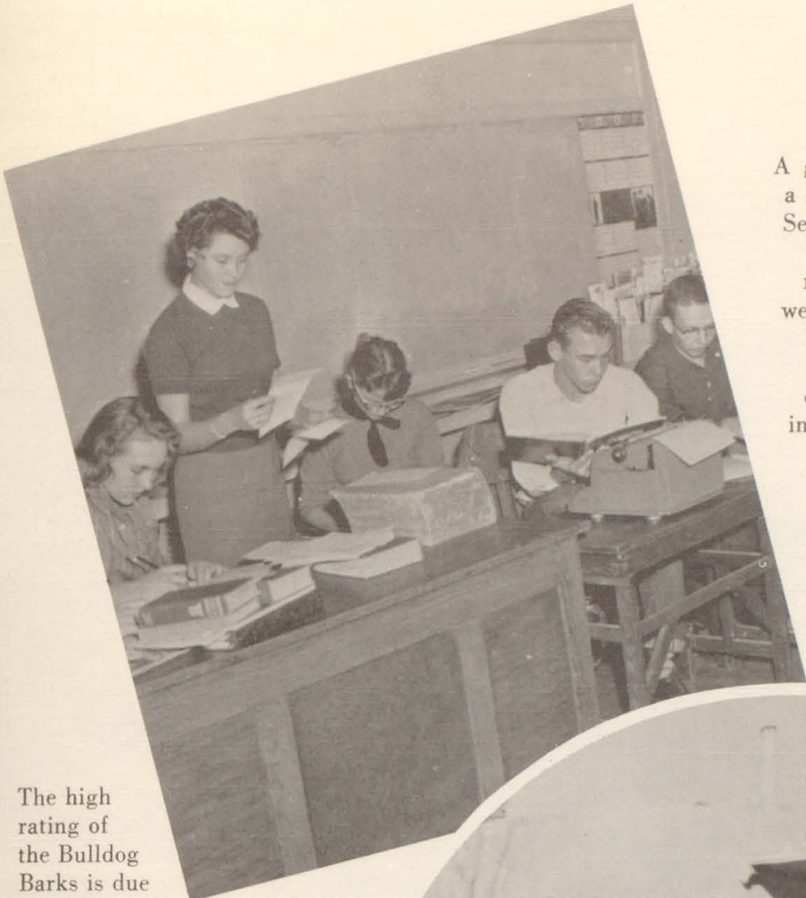

It takes some time for us to get our books and find the right class, especially in only four minutes.

At the beginning, it takes students a while to get used to the operation of these unfamiliar machines.

SEPTEMBER

IS MOLDED DAILY

SEPTEMBER

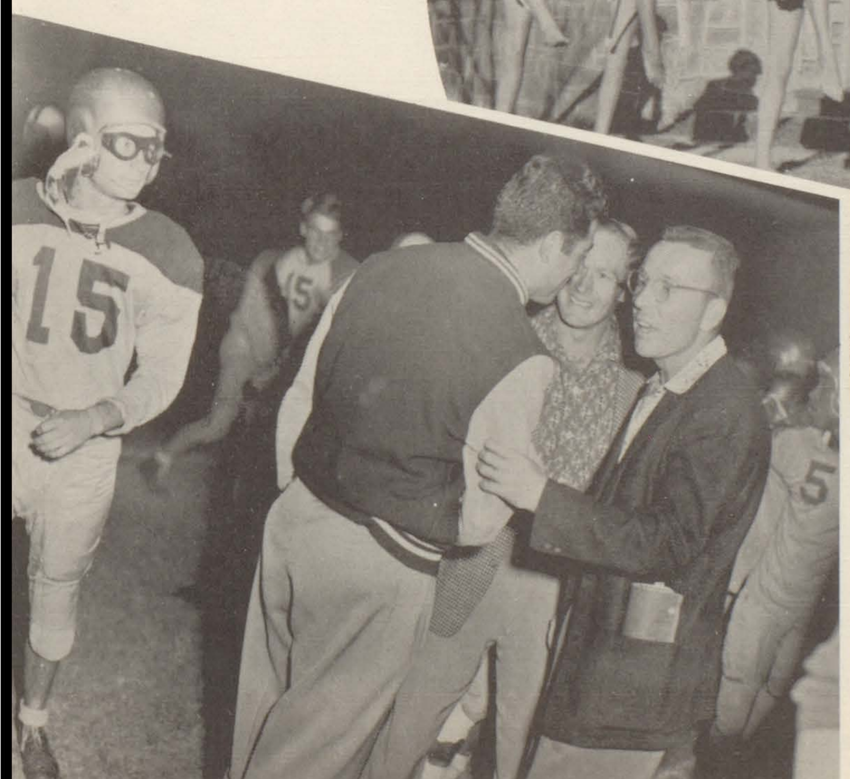

The high rating of the Bulldog Barks is due entirely to the hard work of the Journalism Class.

A glance at a familiar September scene reveals weary Pep Squad Rats during initiation.

Our majorettes practice to display their talents at the coming football games.

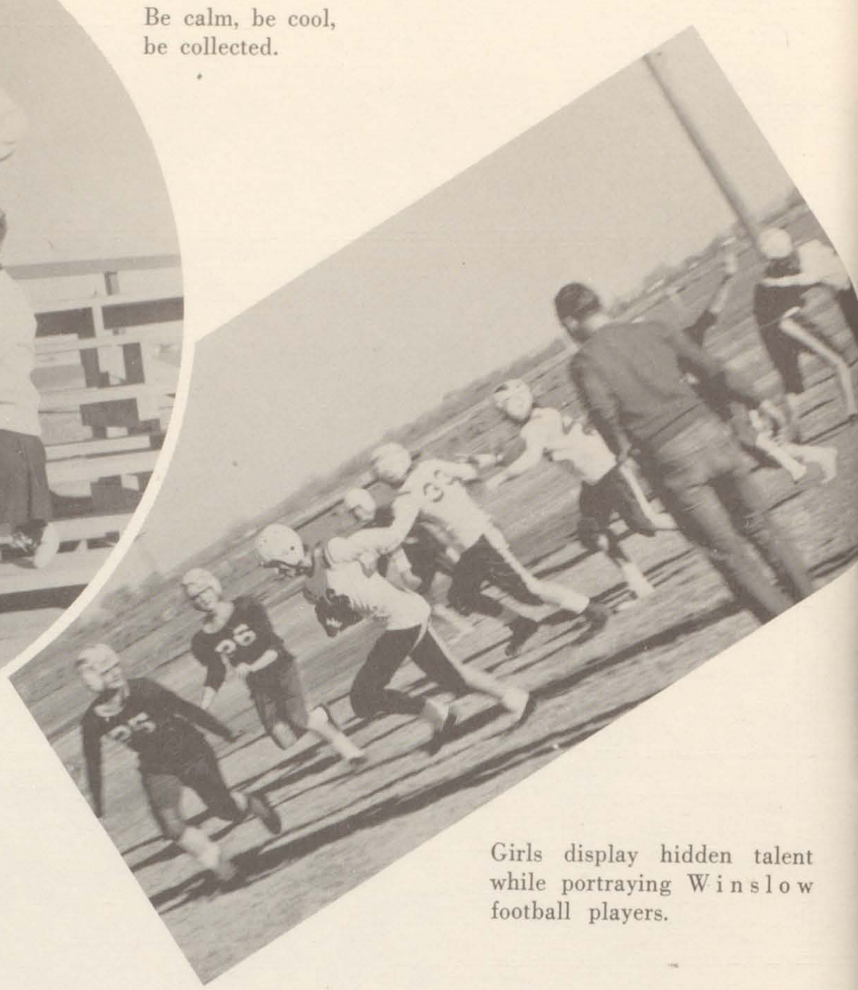

After the Flagstaff ball game the enthusiastic crowd congratulates Coach Nasser.

OCTOBER — STUDENTS HAVE BECOME ADJUSTED

Be calm, be cool,
be collected.

Girls display hidden talent while portraying Winslow football players.

Future teachers are initiated in a candlelight ceremony for the first time.

The band members enjoy a trip through Southern Arizona displaying their musical ability.

OCTOBER

TO THEIR SCHOOL ROUTINE

OCTOBER

Along with the new uniforms W.H.S. received last fall, Paul Brehm brightens up the drum section of the band by giving it a touch of paint.

One of the Senior highlights is running the concession stand at football games. Although this is a lot of work, it's also loads of fun.

Seniors are greatly impressed by the feeling of wearing a cap and gown for the first time.

Through much time and effort, the Senior assembly turned out to be a big success.

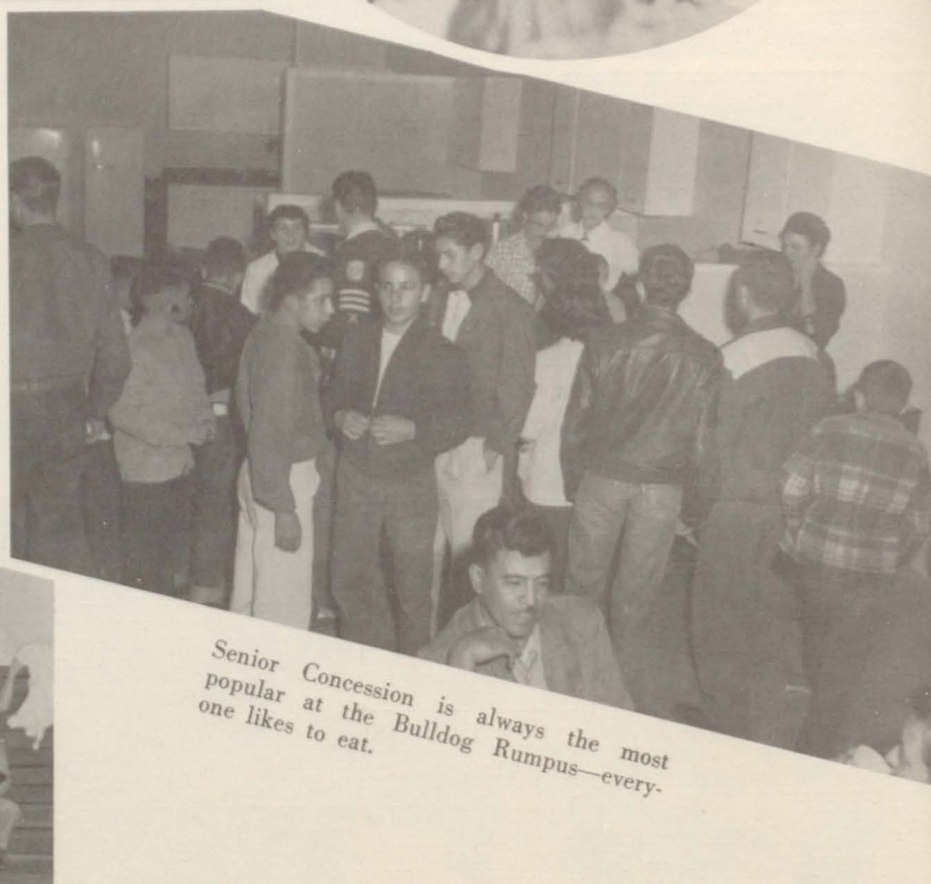

AS BY WIRE, NOVEMBER CONNECTS

Before the Homecoming game each year a wonderous parade of torches is presented to lead W.H.S. to victory.

The highlight of the Bulldog Rumpus was the floorshow and coronation of King and Queen. Here's just a glimpse of the beautiful W.H.S. girls—Polly, Katie, and Patti.

Senior Concession is always the most popular at the Bulldog Rumpus—everyone likes to eat.

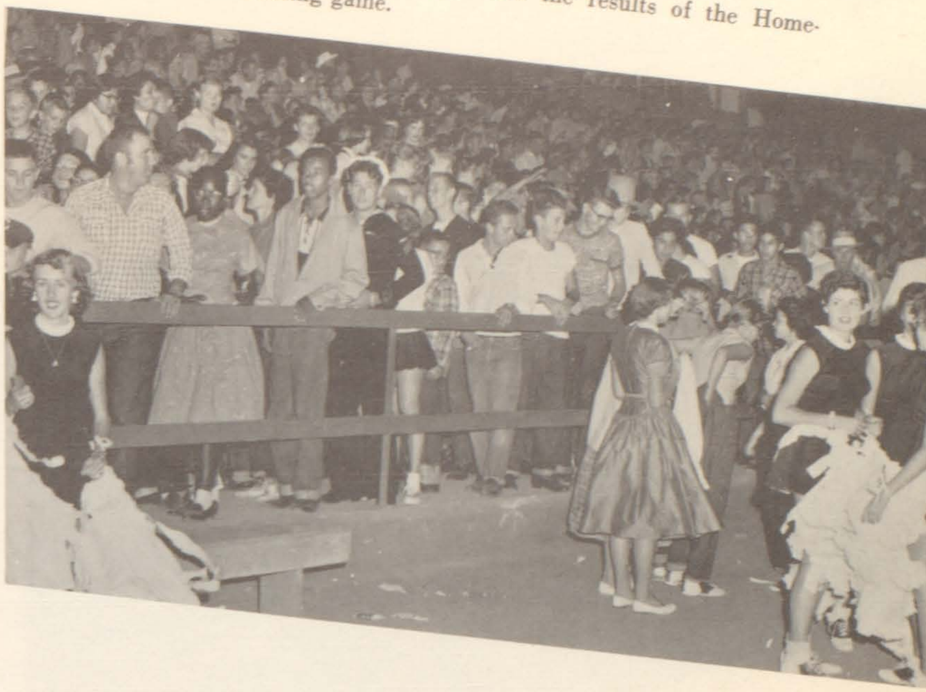

Pom-Pom girls present their routine at the half-time of every game.

NOVEMBER

STUDENTS WITH MANY ACTIVITIES.

NOVEMBER

We were all happy with the results of the Homecoming game.

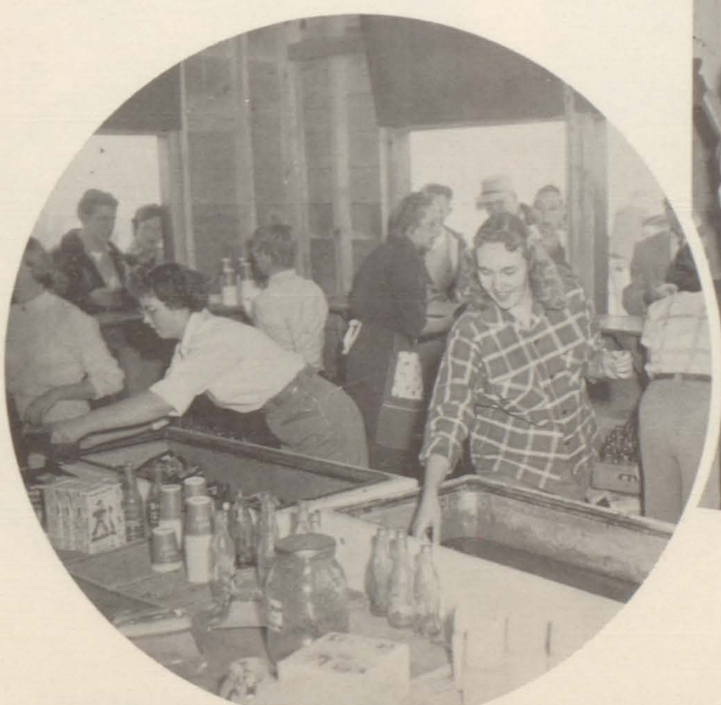

Before the Rumpus students worked diligently setting up stage decorations for the floorshow.

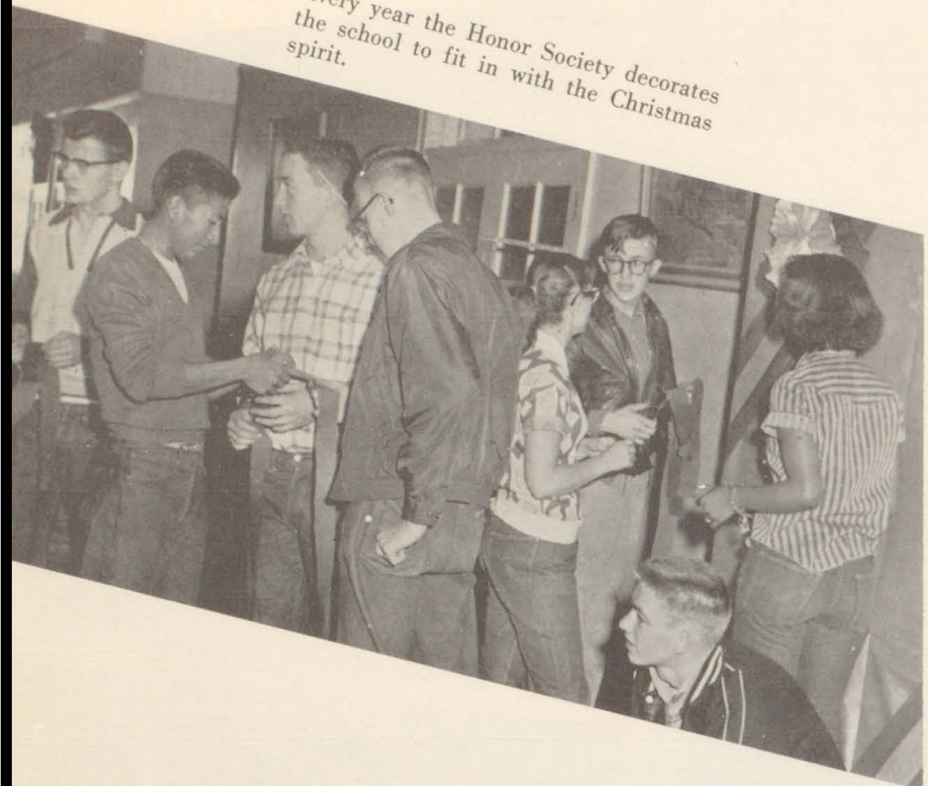

Rough, but fun—as long as you're just watching that is.

Seniors didn't get in on much of the games. They were always too busy with the concession stand.

STUDENT LIFE WAS SHORTENED

Every year the Honor Society decorates the school to fit in with the Christmas spirit.

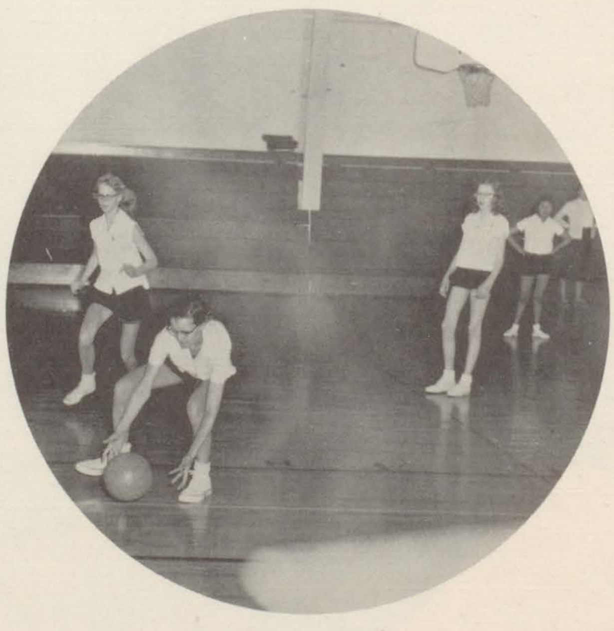

In December, everyone tries to keep up their homework so they won't have any over the Christmas holidays.

Together?

Don't they have good teamwork?

DECEMBER

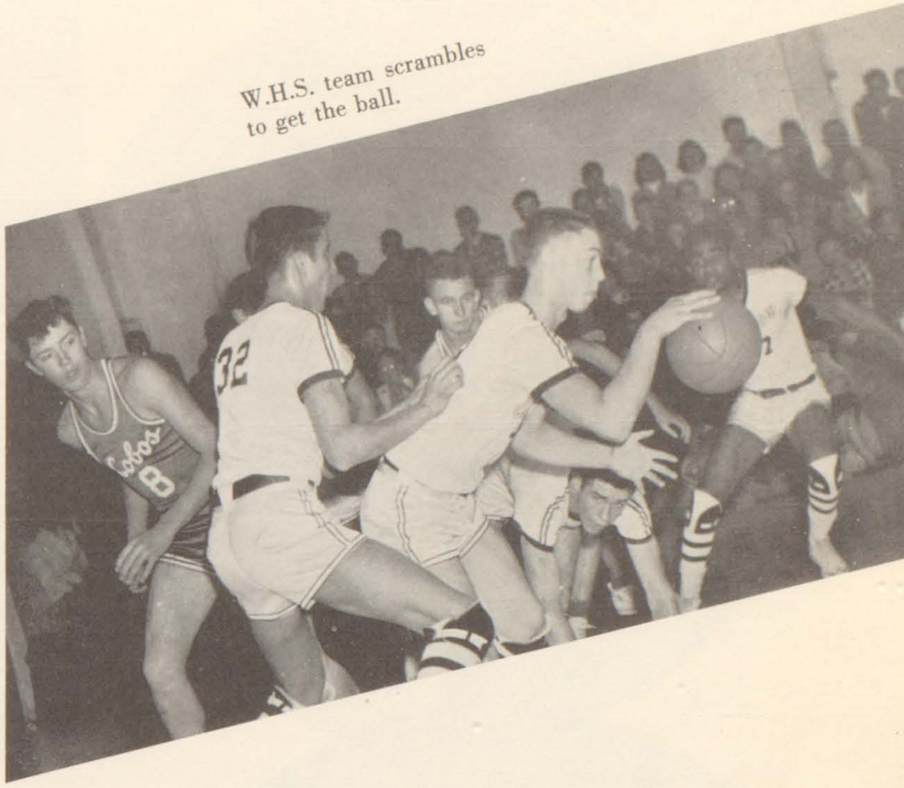

IN DECEMBER BY THE HOLIDAYS

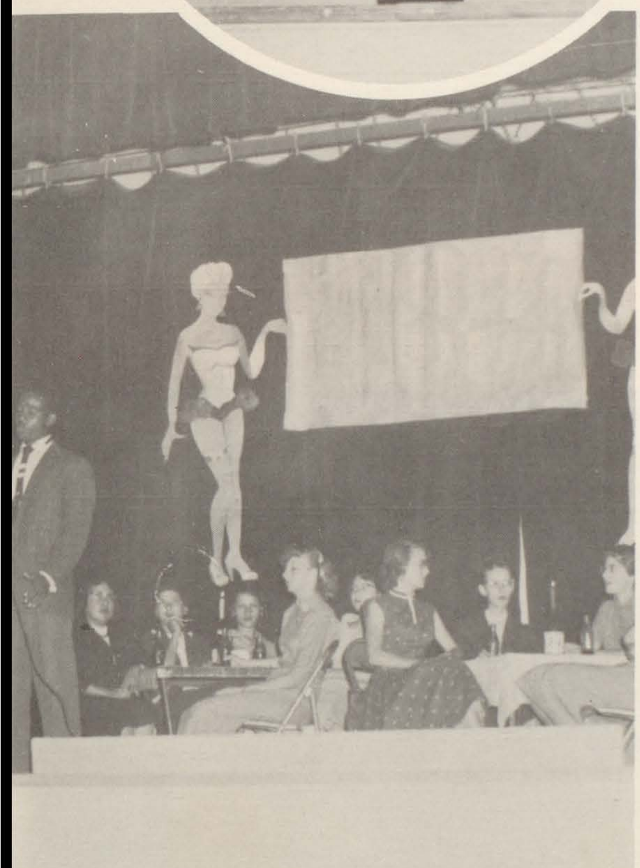

DECEMBER

Everyone was put into hysterics during the love scene in the Junior Assembly.

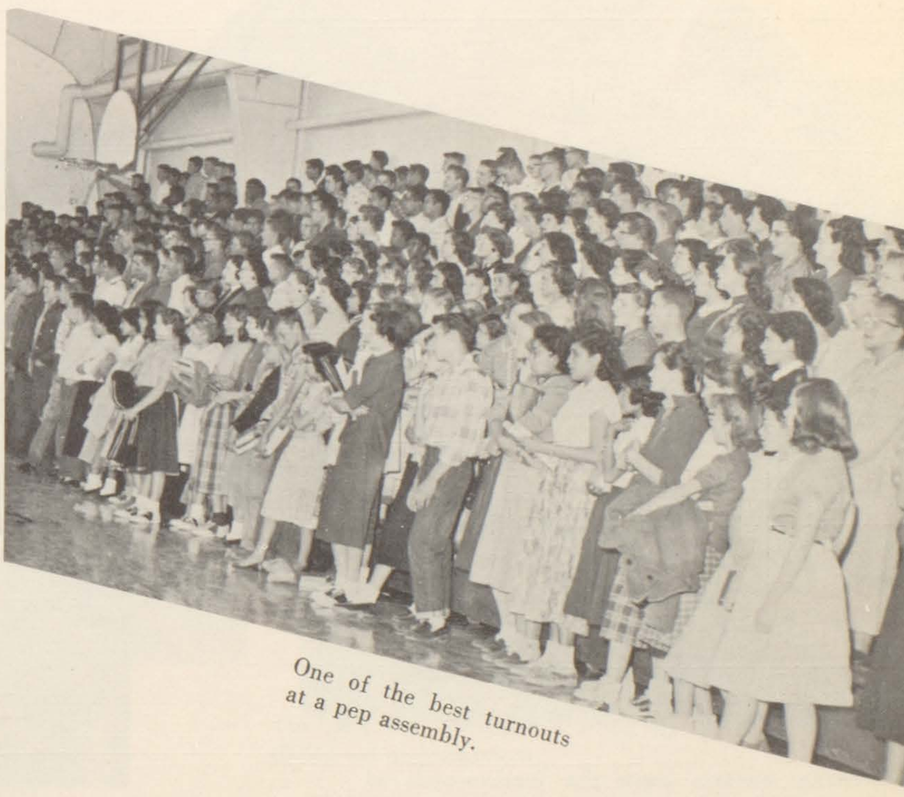

W.H.S. team scrambles to get the ball.

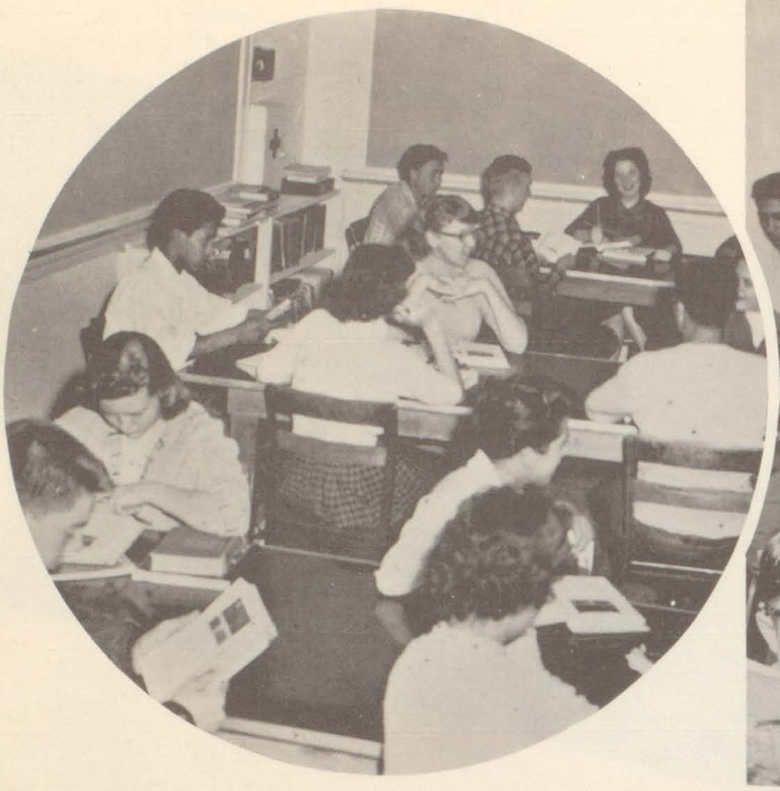

Listen! You can almost hear the swoons as Robert croons.

One of the best turnouts at a pep assembly.

IN JANUARY THE WIRE STRETCHES

Mr. Rapson's biology class during one of their discussions.

English III students spend every spare moment studying for semester exams.

Young students learn the fundamentals of woodworking.

JANUARY

Mr. Paterson's industrious art class work on individual class problems.

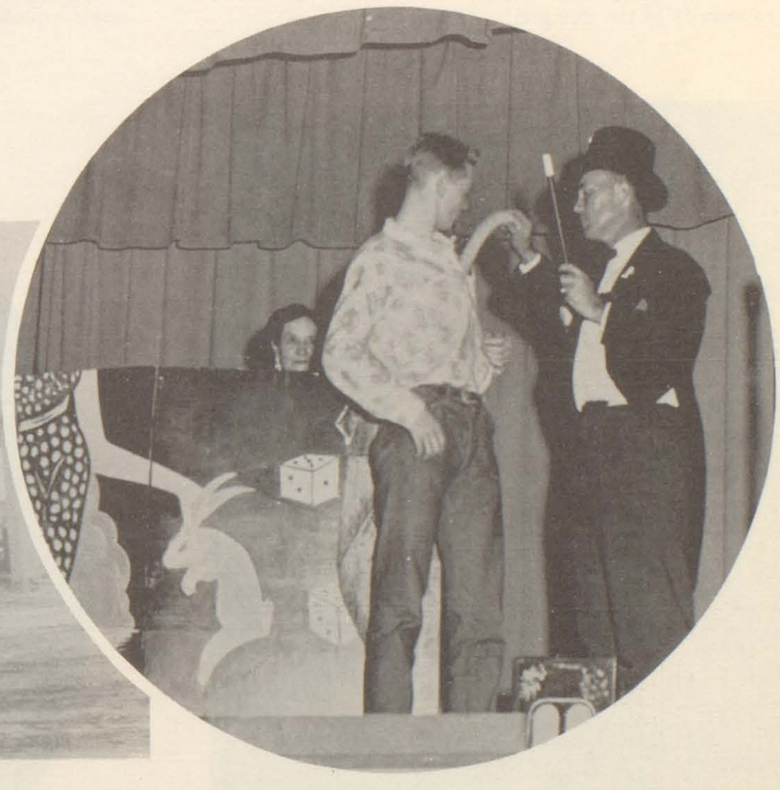

The P.E. Class enjoys a workout on the trampoline.

Students examine the unfinished library building while eagerly waiting for it to be completed.

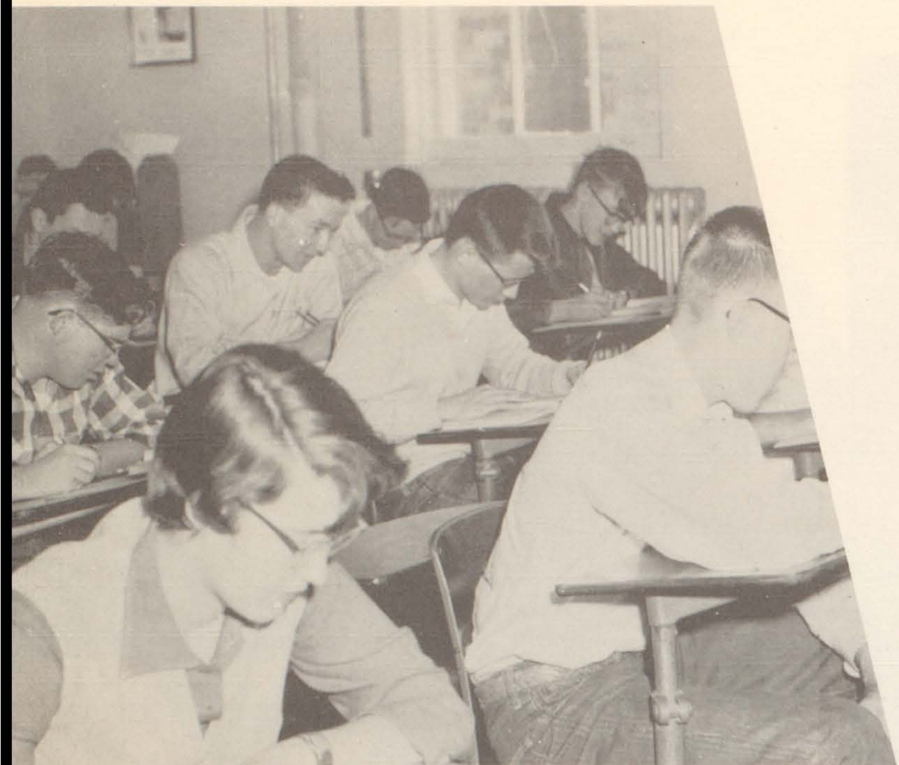

The magician surprises Gordon by pulling things out of his pockets.

WITH THE COMING OF WARM

Here the future nurses display skill in caring for the sick.

Miss Anderson's solid geometry class should prove interesting, especially to the one girl.

Tabulation problems and letters are a part of the every day life of a typing student.

School dances are always lively and a lot of fun.

WEATHER, WE ARE ANXIOUSLY AWAITING SUMMER.

FEBRUARY

A daily task for the seniors is preparing the bulletin board in social problems class.

Many students obtain their only knowledge of sewing in their high school classes.

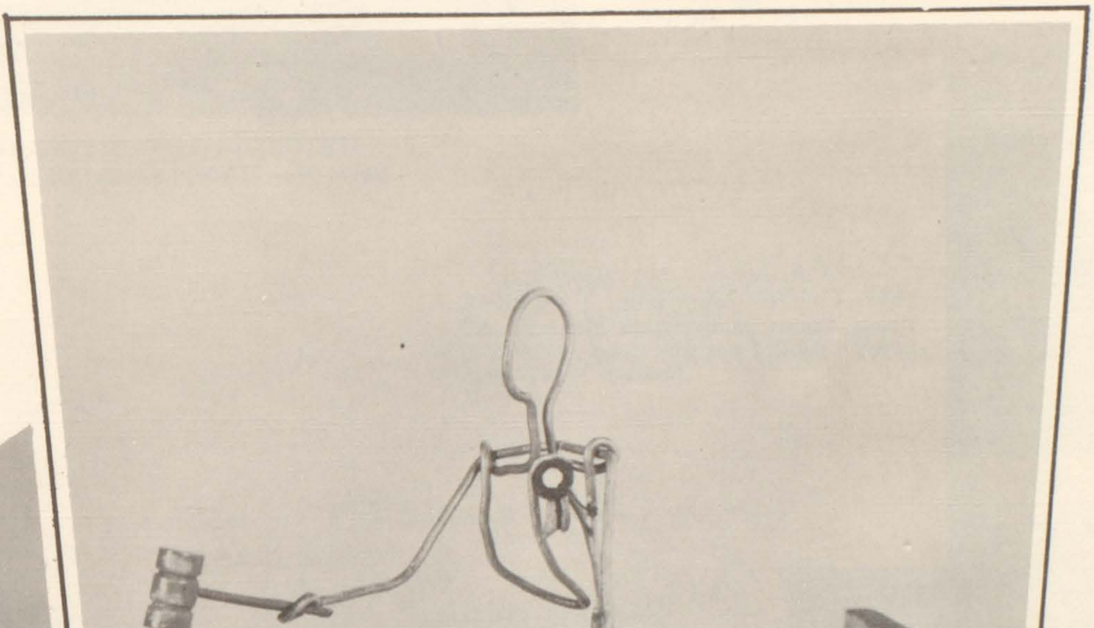

One of the main aims of a shorthand teacher is to teach her students to be able to transcribe from their shorthand notes.

The March of Dimes Assembly turned out to be one of the best of the year.

The Student Council is the only governing body of the school in which the pupils are represented. Realizing the need for training in leadership and citizenship, the Student Council furnishes a fertile field for preparation in government and service to the community. It has co-operated in the promotion of better school spirit, encouraging better inter-school relations in this vicinity, and better co-operation between students and faculty. It is composed of members from each class and representatives from each club. They have made arrangements and plans to host the Arizona Association of Student Councils in their state convention next year which will be held here in Winslow.

NURSES OF TOMORROW

BOYS' AND GIRLS' STATE

Being elected to attend Boys' and Girls' State is one of the highest honors conferred upon students. Delegates are elected in the spring by their classmates on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service. As citizens of an imaginary state, the students learn, by participation, the functions of democratic city, county, and state government.

The Winslow Bulldogs had a successful season under the leadership of Coach Emil Nasser and Coach James Curtis this year. The Bulldogs ended up with a 7-3 record. Their record was marked down by the Holbrook, Snowflake, and Gallup games but were up in all their conference games, which were against Flagstaff, Chandler, Tolleson, Sunnyslope, Prescott, and Tempe. The Bulldogs also knocked off Flagstaff in a non-conference game, which wound up the 1955 season for the Bulldogs.

ACTORS DISPLAY

"CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN"

On November 23, 1955, students went to see the famous play, "Cheaper By the Dozen," written by Frank Gilbreth and Elizabeth Carey. The play presented by the Senior Class was under the direction of Miss Sally McMurray. John Schaar gave a convincing portrayal of the father who was constantly devising time-saving methods for his twelve children. They later learned his reasons—to leave more time for enjoying life as it should be. The story is presented as a playback with the reminiscing of two of the children years later. Nina Boyd and Owen Bernard handled these parts excellently. Marguerite Abney as the eldest daughter gave a unique performance. The wonderful acting of the rest of the cast and the flapper costumes of the 1920's completed the performance.

"The Curious Savage" written by John Patrick, was presented this winter by the Junior Class. The play was directed by Miss Sally McMurray. Its unusual content appealed to the students. Polly Vandervalk, the central character successfully portrayed the wealthy matron committed to a rest home by her money-seeking children. The roles of the gentle inmates there were played with warmth and dignity by Jimmy Queen, Karen Krebs, Jerry Lee Hardy, Hugh Willis, and Sue Mathews. The play ends with the exit of Mrs. Savage leaving behind the lost people in their egg-shell world. This unusual ending with spotlighting on various parts of the stage will not soon be forgotten.

EPILOGUE

The 1956 METEOR is completed except for the reminiscing which will continue throughout the years. Everything happened so quickly—from registration to Commencement.

During September we participated in the hustle and bustle of entering new classes. We rooted for our team through the football games—sharing in their defeat and victory. In January we burned the midnight oil as we studied for semester examinations. Then came May and Commencement.

The aims of the staff, therefore, were to compile a record of the events of the year as they happened and to describe Winslow High School—a model of democracy of which we are so fond and proud.

It is now that we look back and realize the difficulty with which the METEOR would have been published without the help of so many.

Mr. Everett Patterson, our advisor, will always hold a special place in our memory. He was continually endeavoring to instill in us the rules by which a successful staff must follow. It is our deepest hope that in the pages of this book our thanks to him are evident.

Thanks go to our Principal Peyton Reavis and the office staff who contributed so much. Their patience, advice and suggestions were the main factors in keeping us thinking and acting clearly; to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Summers of the Winslow Photo Supply for their genuine interest in us. We shall never forget the extra hours spent in printing and developing pictures to insure our meeting our deadlines; to Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas—that once being introduced to us became a steadfast friend. The consideration shown us is deeply appreciated.

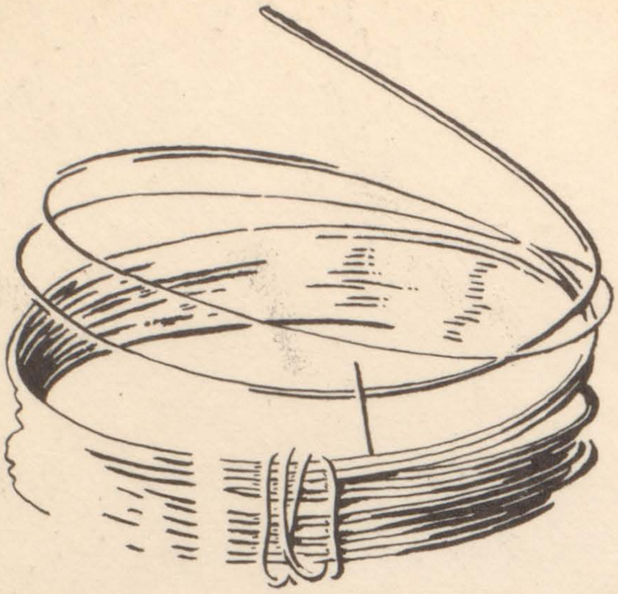

To the members of my class—my sincere thanks for giving me the opportunity to serve as editor.

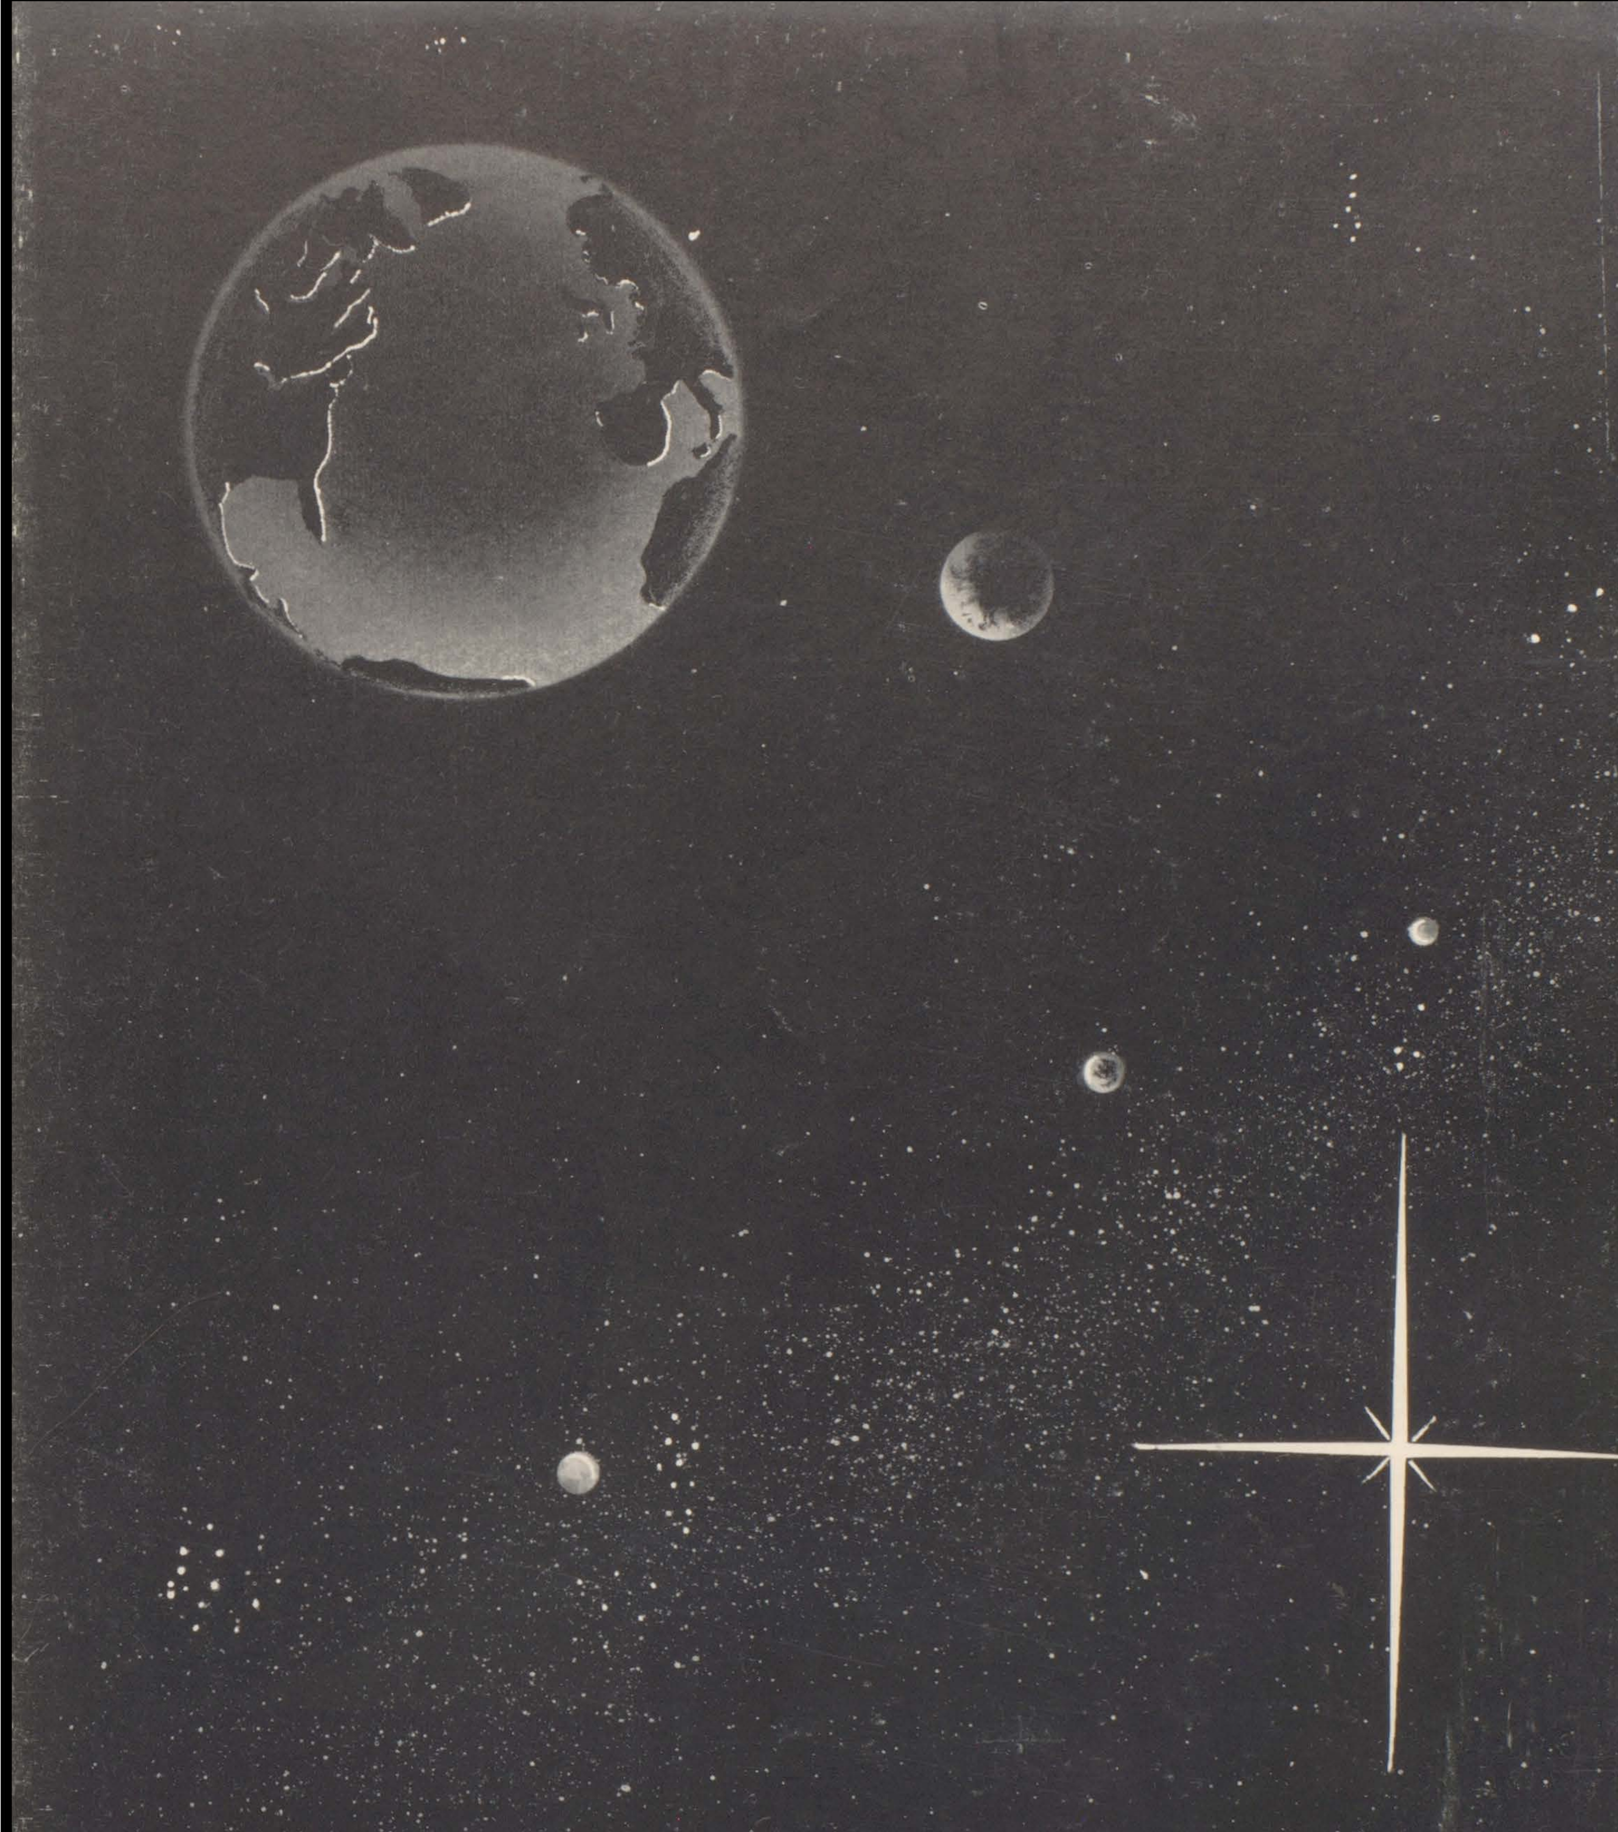

And to my staff, my deepest gratitude. The completion of the METEOR is due to you. Your willingness to work long hours (even through the holidays), and to give direct helpful criticism will never be forgotten. I hope that you have obtained valuable knowledge in working together for a common goal.

And to you who will read this book, it is my sincere desire that you will enjoy it as much as we have enjoyed compiling and publishing it.

APRIL SHOWERED IN MANY EVENTS

April proved to be a busy month for all students in W.H.S. The Music Festival was first of many big events. "Candyland" was the setting for a wonderful Junior Prom reigned over by Camille McMillan. This year's election had the backing of the whole student body and all worked hard on the campaign.

The pre-Festival concert was really tops.

VARSITY TRACK

In 1956 Winslow again swept the Northern Arizona track meets, winning the Winslow Invitational, Holbrook Invitational, and the Olmstead Relays. The standout performer was Lee Wasdon who copped first place in the Glendale Relays' broad jump. He also won the 100-yd. dash and took third in the 220 at the state meet. Winslow's only other entrant, Ruben Munoz, placed third in the mile, giving Winslow fourth place.

"Go, Bob, go!!" Bob Belton hands the baton to Bob Gray as Winslow leads in a race at the Olmstead Relays.

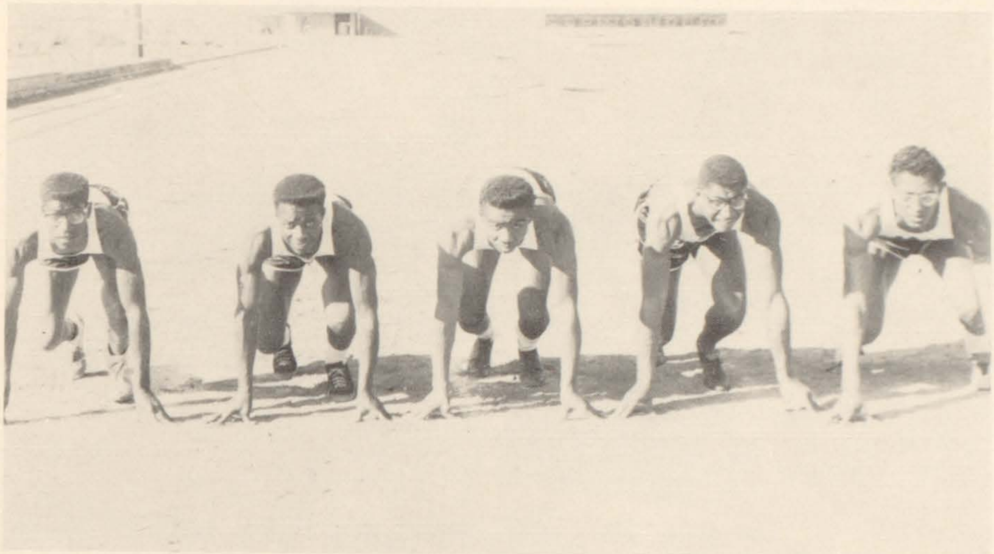

Pole Vaulters Ronnie Bennett, Landis Mitchell, and Ray Boyle (not pictured) vaulted close to ten feet all season.

W.H.S. weightmen were Ernie Apodaca, David Vanderkrats, and Justo Lomeli, in top row. Kneeling, John Lopez, Paul Reynolds and Charles Rose.

W.H.S.'s hope for a nine second century was in these dash men. Left to right: Winstel Belton, Lee Wasdon, Bob Gray, Bob Belton, and Mel Hannah.

Hurdlers Barry Cooper, Arden McRae, Jim Queen, and Bob Belton slip over the first hurdle in the 180 low hurdles race.

Milers and half-milers were Bill Wesson, Joe McAdams, Ruben Munoz, John Davis, and Joe Wilcox.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The cry, "play ball," opened the W.H.S. baseball season. The Bulldogs lost the opener to Flagstaff, but bounced back to win eleven straight. The last game played was at the state tournament in Tucson. There Winslow met its nemesis in the form of Nogales. The team did not win the championship, but it is a credit to W.H.S. that the boys never gave up.

Winslow's slugging lineup was led by Gene Goldsberry. Others pictured are Brian Story and Arden McRae. Outfielders not present for the picture include Ray Boyles, Reyes Rodriquez, Barry Mack, and Dee Blanks.

"Catch it, Mike!" Mike Cooper and Gene Goldsberry handled all of the catching chores during the season. Their fine play inspired Winslow to a winning record.

W.H.S.'s quartet of pitchers was composed of Gary Phillips, Stan Chipman, Moe Carrillo, and Terry Lacy (not pictured). 90 per cent of a team's defense is in the pitcher. Winslow's won-lost record was a true indication of the quality of the pitching.

ELECTIONS AND GRADUATION ARE BIG EVENTS IN JUNIOR HIGH

Charla Jo Allen and Howard Hastings were elected tournament king and queen.

W.H.S. gained a new class of freshmen as the class of 1960 entered High School. Valedictorian and salutatorian were Sandra Wason and Marie Douglas.

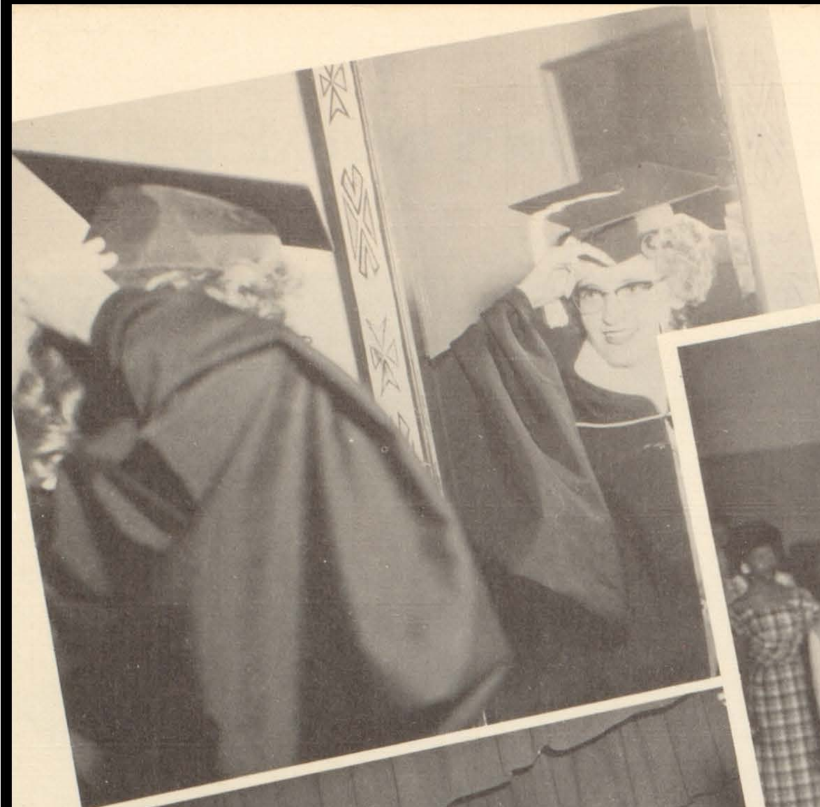

A one-act play "The Little Red School House" was given at the Junior High Assembly. The lead was held by Marie Douglas.

We tried on our caps and gowns, but we didn't feel like Seniors who would soon graduate.

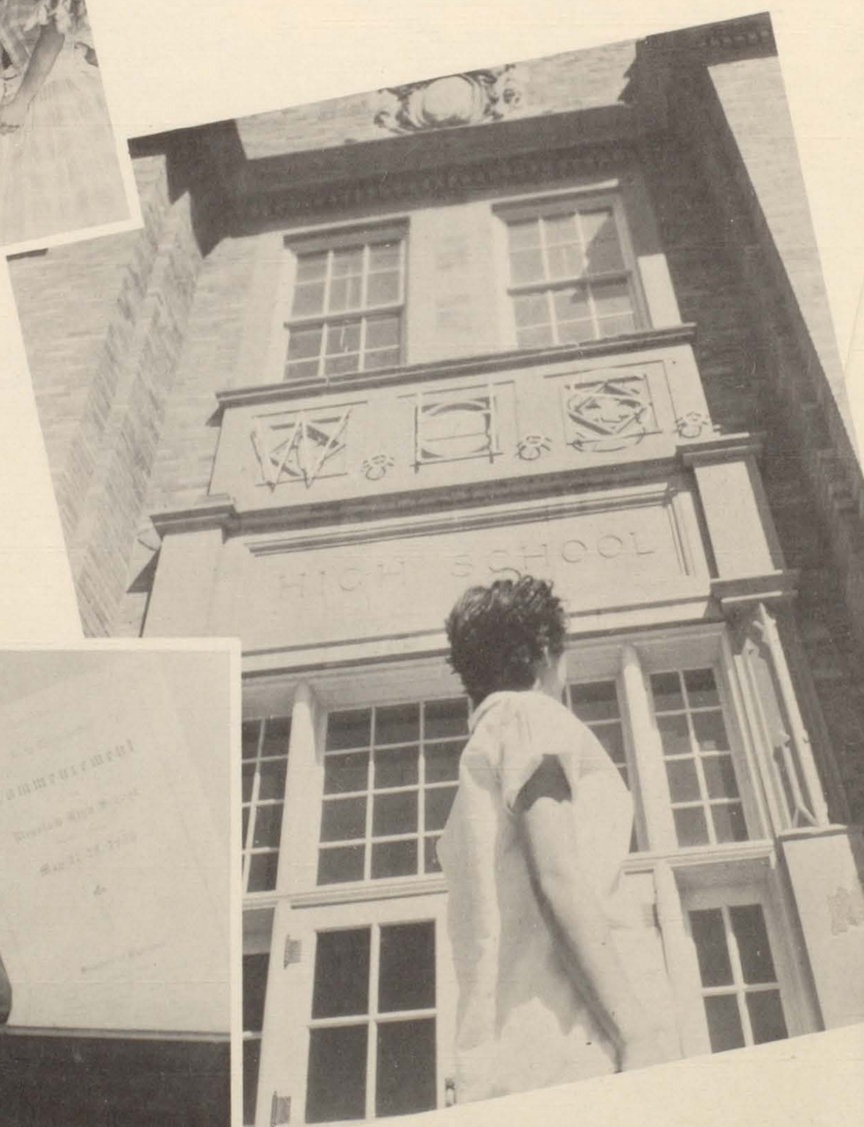

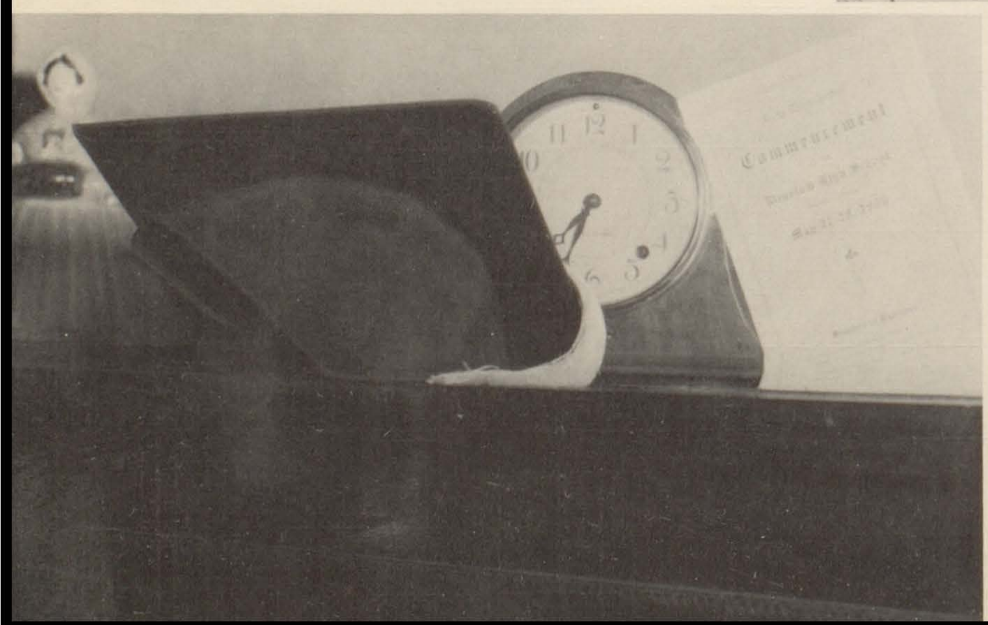

At practice for Baccalaureate we began to realize how serious graduation was.

Tuesday afternoon we, as students, said farewell.

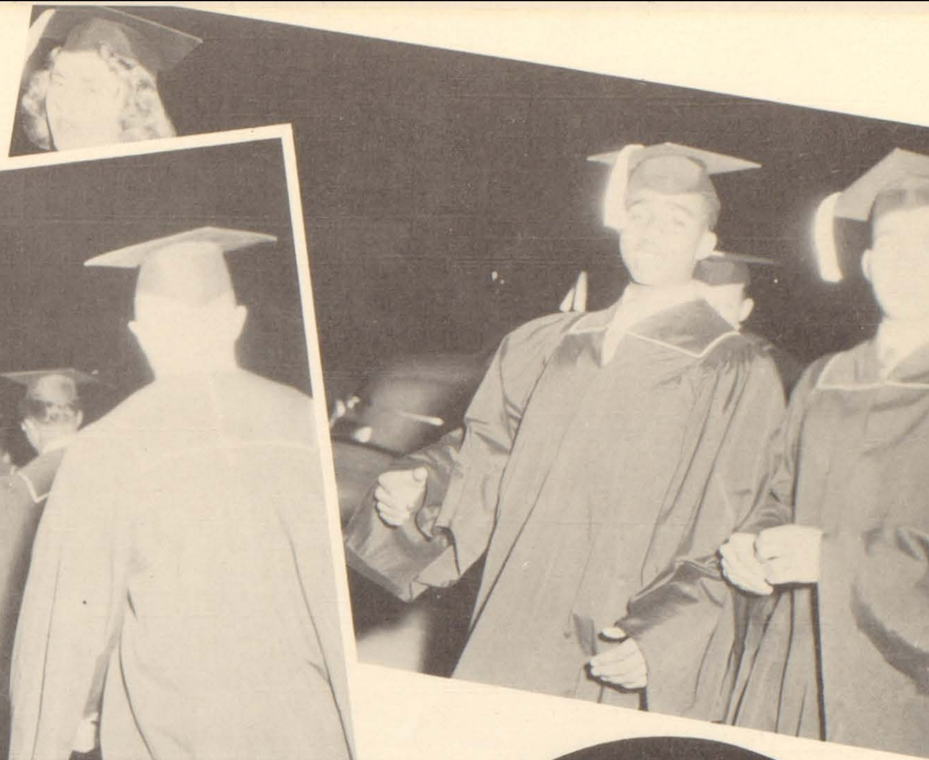

On Class Day we sang the Alma Mater as a group for the last time.

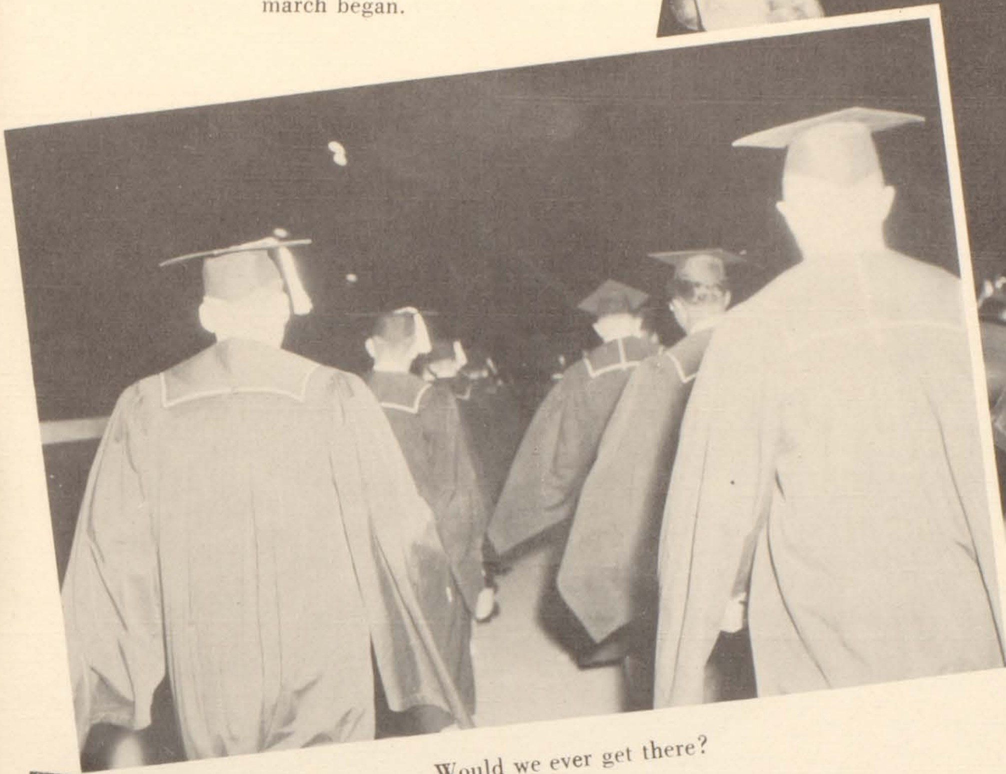

As time passed swiftly, every minute seemed important. We would soon be alumni.

We laughed and joked before the march began.

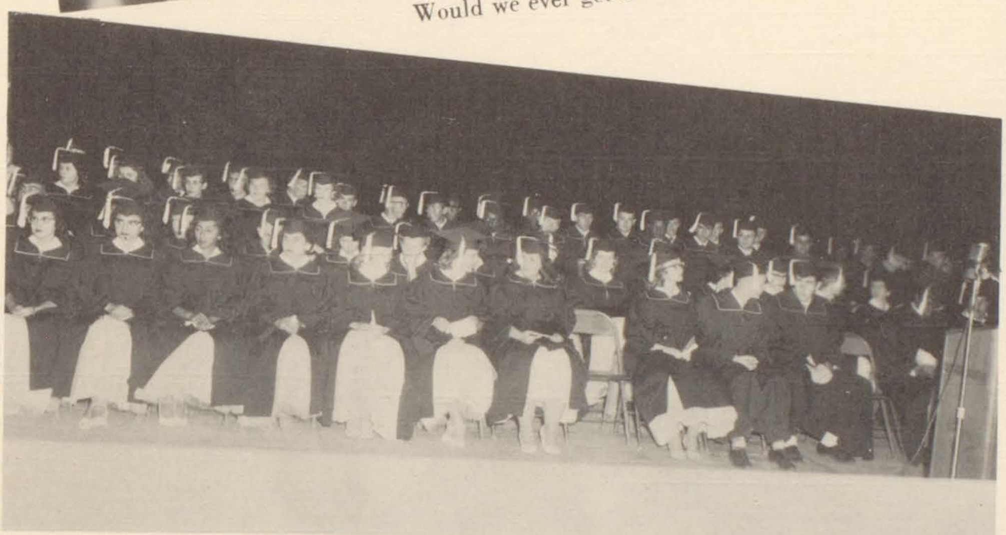

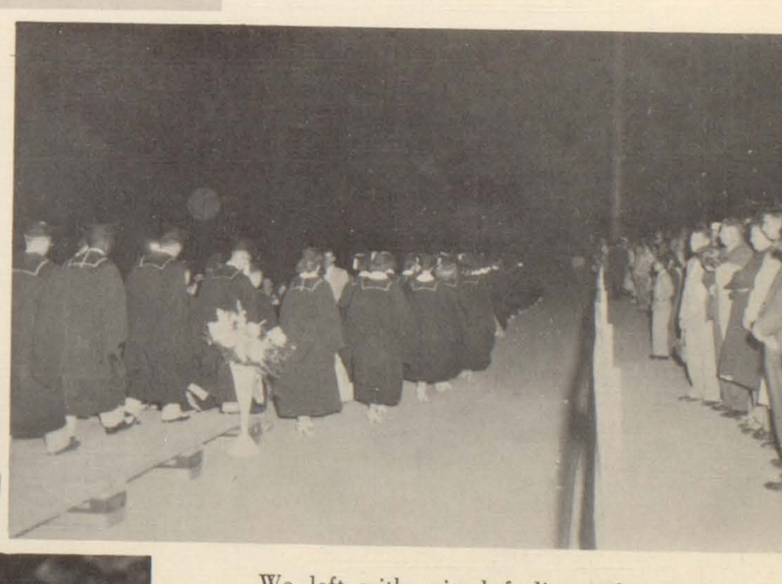

Would we ever get there?

The climax of twelve years of school was finally here.

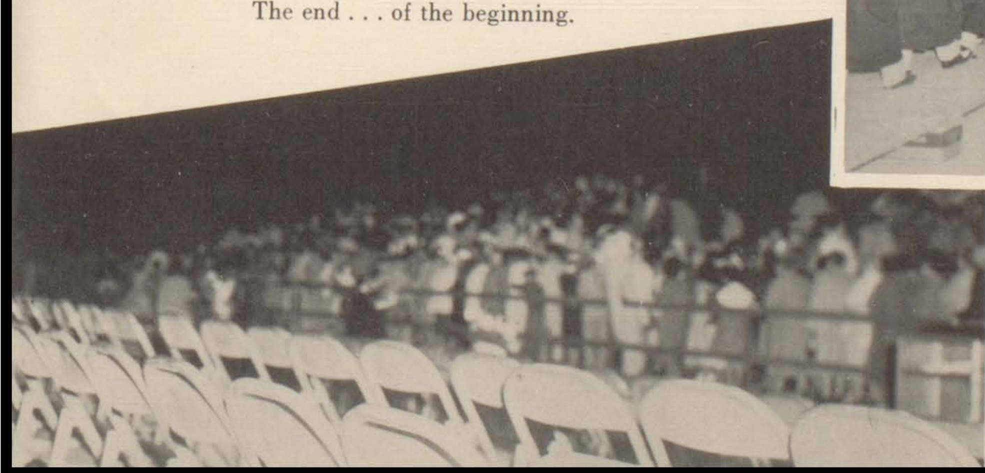

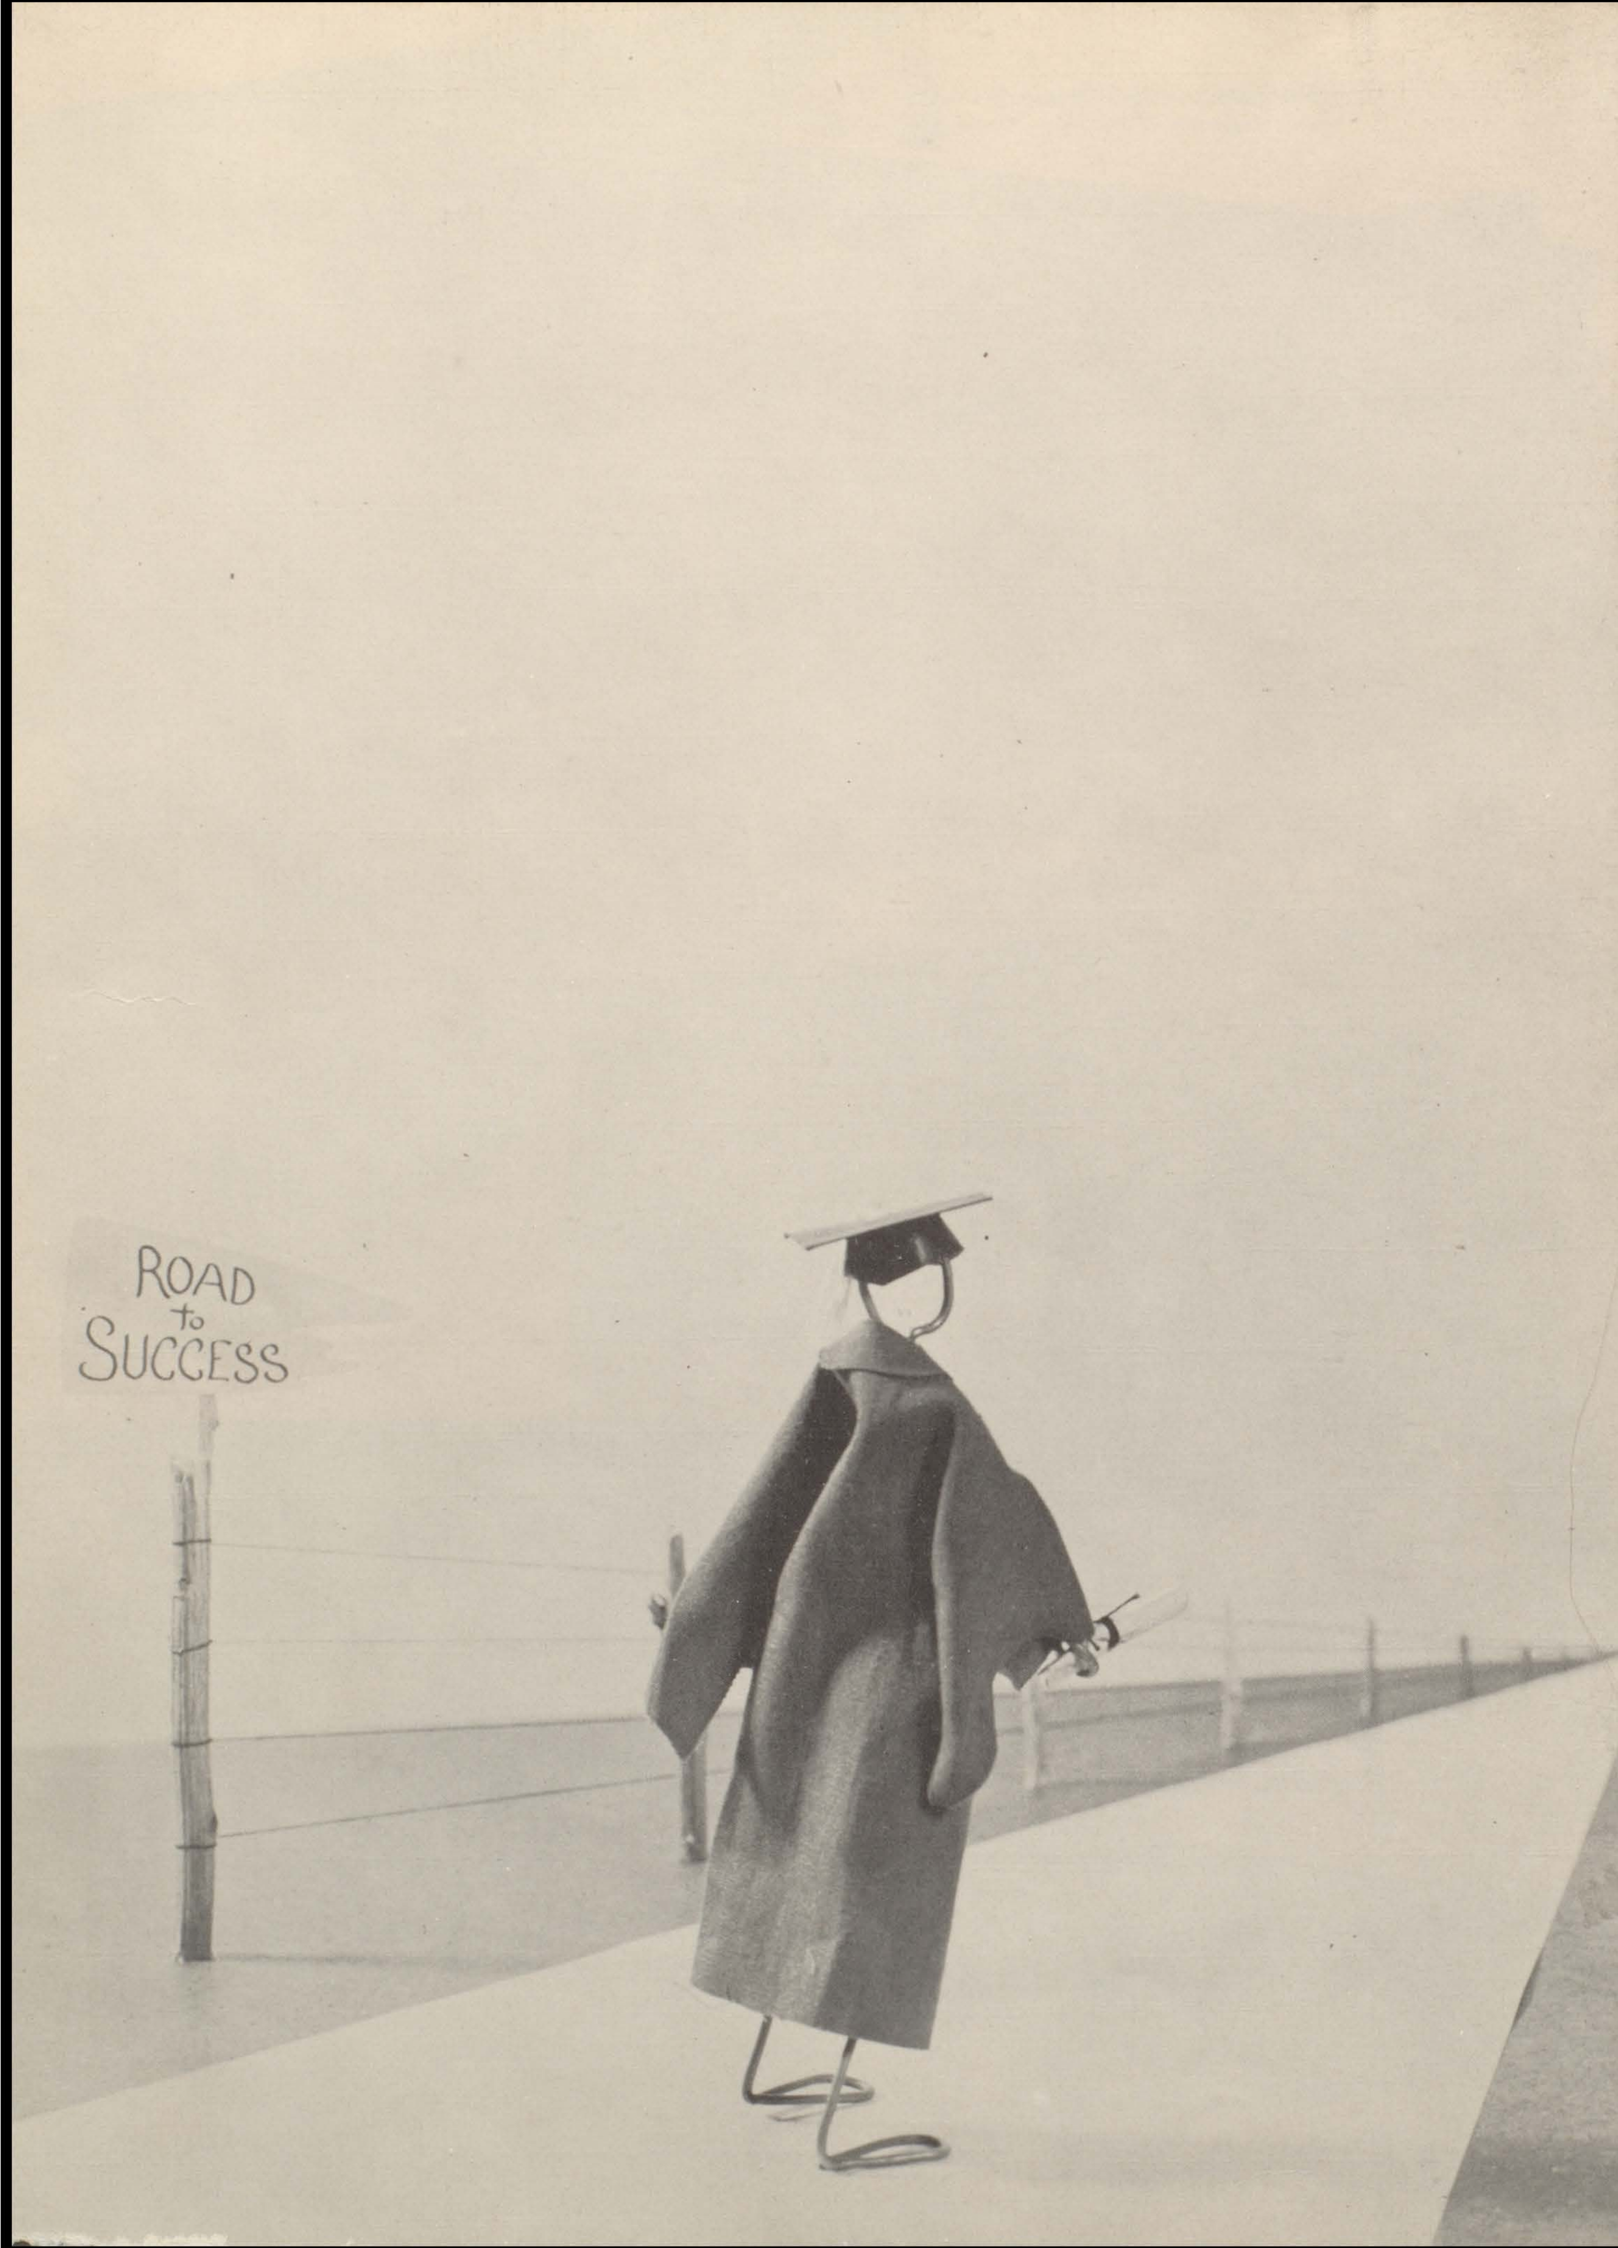

We heard Gordon McHood and Nina Boyd give the salutatory and valedictory addresses.

The end . . . of the beginning.

We left with mixed feelings of regret and happiness. Our days in Winslow High School are now only a pleasant memory.
